FACED WITH HIGH COSTS, U.S. FIRMS LOOK TO CUT BACK ON AI SPENDING

Faced with steep IT costs, many US tech firms including Microsoft are ditching expensive AI agents like Claude Code, Axios reported

U.S. COMPANY GETS $500 MILLION CLAUDE SHOCK

Microsoft has reportedly cancelled most of its Claude Code licenses partly due to high costs, according to the Axios report. The tool had become highly popular inside the company since its introduction in December. As per the report, an unnamed US company spent half a billion dollars in a month after failing to put usage limits on Claude licenses for its employees

POOR RETURN ON INVESTMENT IS THE PAIN POINT

- While AI costs keep piling up, companies using the technology have yet to see meaningful returns on their investment, the report said
- But corporations are not ditching AI altogether, the report noted. Instead, they are looking for cheaper alternatives that can deliver similar results without draining their IT budgets

Guv accepts Siddu's resignation; CLP meet today to pick DKS as CM

Siddaramaiah pushes loyalists to DCM, minister posts; oath-taking not later than June 6

PREETHA NAIR, BALA CHAUHAN & DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @New Delhi/Bengaluru

GOVERNOR Thaawarchand Gehlot on Friday morning accepted Siddaramaiah's resignation as chief minister, paving the way for the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting in Bengaluru to elect DK Shivakumar as new CM – scheduled for 4pm on Saturday. Hectic day-long negotiations were on in Delhi over the new cabinet and ministerial berths. Shivakumar's oath-taking, however, remains undecided with a combination of dates being considered, but is expected to be completed in the coming week.

Governor Gehlot, on accepting the resignation, dissolved the council of ministers under Siddaramaiah, who was yet to arrive in Bengaluru at the time. Siddaramaiah will continue as CM until "alternative arrangements are made", according to a notification from Lok Bhavan.

Those very "alternative arrangements" are, however, being worked out with the Saturday-afternoon CLP under the chairmanship of the outgoing CM Siddaramaiah electing Shivakumar as its leader and later Shivakumar visiting Lok Bhavan to stake claim to form the new government.

Shivakumar is likely to be sworn in no later than June 6. His mentor, spiritual guru and astrologer Rajguru Bellur Sankaranarayanan Dwarakanath, told TNIE, "I told him to consider any of the three dates (May 31, June 5 or June 6) for oath-taking as they are auspicious for him. The time will however be 4 pm," he said.

Meanwhile, hectic parleys were on in New Delhi where Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar met with the party high command, which is keen on two deputy chief ministers (DCMs), though there are ongoing discussions about having four. "The party central leadership has reportedly approved two DCMs, but it is a fluid situation," said sources on condition of anonymity.

It is learnt that the party high command has assured Siddaramaiah about his son and MLC Dr Yathindra's induction into the cabinet, so also former ministers G Parameshwara and Priyank Kharge. Sources said Siddaramaiah suggested to Congress leader Rahul Gandhi that Yathindra and former ministers KJ George and MB Patil be appointed DCMs. P4,5

NEET-UG PAPER LEAK

PM supervising retest, says govt as SC raps NTA

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday advised the National Testing Agency (NTA) to learn from bodies like the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) that conduct large-scale competitive exams without paper leaks. The court made the observation while hearing a batch of pleas filed by the United Doctors Front and the Federation of All India Medical Associations seeking the disbanding of the NTA over the NEET-UG paper leak and the upcoming retest.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Centre, assured the court that the government was treating the matter with utmost seriousness. "The Prime Minister is personally supervising the situation," he said, adding the government plans to eventually shift NEET-UG to computer-based testing.

"UPSC has never been in such a situation. You need to learn. General liability clauses were not enough. The real problem won't stop till actual accountability arises. Unless you identify the specific duty bearers, it will be difficult," the bench said.

"The problem is that most institutions are ad hoc. It's a phenomenon that is everywhere in the country. It's not the individual who has the capability but the institution," Justice Narasimha observed.

He asked the Centre to file an affidavit specifying how an "institutional memory of continuity" could be built by employing specialised personnel, enabling the NTA to conduct exams reliably in future.

Dr K Radhakrishnan, the head of the monitoring committee to suggest recommendations to strengthen NEET, described the structural deficiencies within the NTA in 2024, including the lack of sufficient domain experts. He added that major reforms had been undertaken in the transport of question papers as well, which had previously been vulnerable.

The court suggested a permanent, small monitoring mechanism with top universities and IITs to continuously assess and strengthen the system, especially with new technologies like AI.

AI-based tools shall be used for at least 85% of translation work to minimise human intervention... Randomisation, rotation is being institutionalised for engagement of paper setters, moderators, vetters, translators for exams

Systemic gaps 'fixed' for retest

Radhakrishnan, who headed the monitoring committee in 2024 to strengthen NEET, said the panel had submitted 35 long-term and 60 short-term suggestions, most of which had been implemented. He assured the court that the vulnerabilities exposed this year had been addressed for the retest next month

Guv sore over partial Vande Mataram in Kerala House

SOVI VIDYADHARAN @ T'puram

VANDE Mataram once again emerged as the centrepiece of a tussle between the UDF government in Kerala and the Lok Bhavan after the Union government's directive to render the national song in its entirety was not followed at the inaugural session of the 16th Kerala Legislative Assembly.

Instead, the Kerala Police band played only the opening stanza. While it marked the first time that Vande Mataram was rendered in the assembly, the omission of the remaining stanzas drew strong objections from Governor Rajendra Arlekar, who delivered the UDF government's maiden policy address in the House.

Arlekar told reporters that the Lok Bhavan had, a day earlier, insisted that the national song be sung or played in full in accordance with protocol. He said he had raised the matter with Speaker Thiruvanchoor Radhakrishnan. "Let us see how things develop," he said.

Chief Minister V D Satheesan defended the decision to play only the opening portion of Vande Mataram. "We all function based on the decision the (Congress) party has taken. Besides, it is not mandatory. Parliament has not passed any legislation on it. It is only a guideline," he told reporters.

The BJP termed the truncated rendition an "affront" to the governor and the Lok Bhavan. Interestingly, the UDF found support from an unlikely quarter, with the Opposition LDF backing its stand.

Dispute over farm: Six killed in Vijayapura

FIROZ ROZINDAR @ Vijayapura

IN a gruesome crime that sent shockwaves across Vijayapura district, six persons were brutally murdered at Govindapura village in Chadachan taluk on Friday, allegedly over a long-standing agricultural land dispute.

The deceased were identified as Revanasiddappa Nirale, Dundappa Nirale, Shivaputra Nirale, Chandrashekhar Nirale, Rahul Nirale, all from the same family, and Shabbir Nadaf, a labourer who had come to work in the field.

Initial reports said violence erupted over a disputed 25-acre agricultural land involving the Nirale family and another powerful family from the same Neevaragi village of Chadchan taluk.

Sources said the Nirale family had recently purchased the land from the Teli family.

The accused family had strongly opposed the Nirale family buying the land from Telis, claiming that the property was under dispute for the last 15-16 years. The Teli family had not cultivated the land during that period. CONTINUED ON: P7

Auto driver dies after wall of club collapses as heavy rain pounds city

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 56-year-old autorickshaw driver died when part of the compound wall of Vijayanagar Club at RPC Layout collapsed on his vehicle during heavy rain on Friday evening.

The deceased has been identified as Shivaboraiah, a resident of Attiguppe. He was sitting in his autorickshaw when the 12-foot-high compound wall of the club's swimming pool collapsed on it around 6.45pm.

46mm rain in Bengaluru

Bengaluru recorded moderate to heavy rain accompanied by thunderstorms on Friday. The IMD observatory in the city recorded 46mm rain between 8.30am and 8.30pm. The automatic weather station recorded 44.5mm rain and HAL Airport 20.8mm.

Policemen removed Shivaboraiah from the mangled autorickshaw and rushed him to a nearby hospital where he was declared dead on arrival.

His body was shifted to the mortuary of Victoria Hospital for postmortem.

Police suspect that Shivaboraiah might have been waiting for passengers when the compound wall collapsed on his vehicle.

Apart from the autorickshaw, a goods carrier and three electric poles were damaged.

Meanwhile, Shivaboraiah's relative Divya told reporters that he went to a nearby hospital where his aged mother is being treated for some illness. Shivaboraiah's wife and son were at home when the incident happened. P2

The BCCI's Anti-Corruption Unit has barred the usage of smart sunglasses by players and match officials in the ongoing IPL, citing its advanced communication features which allow live streaming and video calling through mobile data or Wi-Fi networks. In an advisory to the league's franchises, the BCCI ACSU has stated that it has been noticed that some companies are marketing and selling smart sunglasses to players and support staff.

If the 97 against Sunrisers Hyderabad made the world stand up and watch Sooryavanshi, the teenager's 96 from 47 balls helped Rajasthan Royals post 214/6 against Gujarat Titans in Qualifier 2. Abetment to suicide case while wife still alive, HC slams IO, frees man

YATHIRAJU @Bengaluru

The Karnataka High Court lambasted an investigating officer for arresting a man on charges of abetting his wife's suicide while she is still alive.

The court said, "The investigating officer (IO) who, without even adverting to the elementary ingredients of the offence punishable under Section 108 of the BNS -- abetment to suicide -- registered the crime and went on to file the charge sheet even." The high court ordered a departmental inquiry against the IO and immediate release of the petitioner-husband, who is languishing in jail for the last six months for a crime he never committed.

"The petition before this court unveils, in stark relief, a disquieting narrative of mechanical prosecution and reckless invocation of penal provision, resulting in the incarceration of the petitioner for an offence that, on the admitted facts, could never have been alleged in the first place," the court observed, bringing to light the cavalier attitude of the police.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order recently, allowing the petition filed by the 29-year-old husband, who had challenged the criminal proceedings against him based on his wife's complaint.

"What shocks the judicial conscience is not merely the erroneous invocation of the provision, but the grave consequence that followed in its wake. The petitioner-husband has languished behind the prison walls for six long months, deprived of his liberty under the shadow of a charge sheet that could not even remotely sustain legal scrutiny," the judge noted.

The court said the present case is not merely an error of judgment, it is a glaring manifestation of non-application of mind. It is imperative that accountability must follow such abuse of authority. P6

HCs must pronounce verdict within 3 months of reserving it

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday imposed tight timelines on all high courts to issue orders on bail applications and reserved verdicts. It said bail application must be disposed of after hearing within 24 hours. As for reserved judgments, it directed that the verdict be pronounced within three months from the date of reservation.

A two-judge bench comprising Chief Justice of India Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi issued a set of binding directions while hearing a petition challenging the Jharkhand High Court's delay in pronouncing judgments in criminal appeals reserved as far back as in 2022.

The court directed that the order of bail or sentence suspension be communicated to the jail authorities as soon as it is pronounced, and that the undertrial or convict should be released, preferably the same day or at most the next day.

NEW TIMELINES

- If judgment is not pronounced within three months from the date of reserving, parties can file an application for release of the judgment. The application should be listed within 2 days
- If the judgment is not pronounced within 3+1 months from the date of reserving, parties can file an application to withdraw the said case and move it over to another bench for fresh arguments
- Reasoned judgment pronounced in open courts should be uploaded on the high court website within 24 hours
- High courts should update their website. The date of reserving judgment shall be reflected in the case status
- If only the operative portion of judgment is delivered, the case status must record it. When the reasoned judgment is uploaded, the parties/advocates shall be informed by email
- The certified copy of the judgments shall mention the date of reserving the judgment, the date of pronouncing the judgment, and the date of uploading it

If a bail order is reserved, it must be pronounced and uploaded the next day.

If a reserved judgment is not delivered within three months, the Registrar shall place the matter before the chief justice. "The chief justice shall bring it to the notice of the bench within 2 weeks thereafter. If it is still not delivered, the chief justice may assign the case to another bench." If a reasoned judgment is withheld, the operative part may be pronounced in the court, and the reasoned verdict uploaded within 15 days.

HEAVY RAIN FLOODS CITY AGAIN, SILK BOARD JN WORST AFFECTED

Several flyover entry, exit points inundated, roads waterlogged, underpasses flooded

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HEAVY rain accompanied by thunderstorms lashed several parts of Bengaluru on Friday, leading to severe waterlogging, flooded underpasses and traffic disruptions across the city.

Areas including Central Silk Board Junction, Sadashivanagar, Mekhri Circle, Majestic, Seshadripuram, Rajajinagar, Malleshwaram, Shivajinagar, Vasanthanagar and Mahalakshmi Layout witnessed heavy flooding following intense showers through the day.

Several flyover entry and exit points, including stretches near the Silk Board double-decker flyover and HSR Layout approach roads, were inundated, making commuting difficult for motorists. Waterlogging and sludge accumulation near Silk Board junction posed risks to commuters, while many two-wheeler riders were seen taking shelter under bus stops, metro stations and flyovers to escape the downpour.

The overnight rainfall on Thursday had already exposed infrastructure gaps in multiple low-lying areas of the city. Localities such as Marathahalli, HSR Layout, Jayadeva Junction and Central Silk Board recorded severe flooding, with water levels near Central Silk Board Metro Station rising up to two to three feet in some stretches.

Speaking to TNIE, KV Ravi, Chief Engineer, Zone 2 of the Bengaluru South City Corporation, said the Silk Board area has been vulnerable to flooding because it is a very low-lying zone where rainwater runoff becomes difficult during heavy showers.

He said one of the major issues was that roads in these stretches were initially supposed to be constructed with certain elevation and heightening measures, which were not adequately implemented. According to Ravi, civic authorities have now initiated road-heightening works in flood-prone areas such as HSR Layout and similar projects are planned in Dollars Colony and other vulnerable localities.

He added that the civic body would begin road-heightening and flood mitigation works at the Silk Board stretch within the next 15 days.

AI-based fin advice a tricky slope: Experts

ANUBHAB ROY @ Bengaluru

THE injection and integration of artificial intelligence (AI) into digital spheres of interaction between institutions and the individual have been rapid and steep, allowing little time for the law and policy to catch up, say Bengaluru-based experts.

According to them, as the finance sector is increasingly moving towards AI-based automation without legal frameworks of accountability already in place, consumers are left to their own devices, leaving them vulnerable to making mistakes involving personal and confidential information.

When an agency offering financial advice uses AI in its operations, loopholes in the accountability of personal information are inherent in the interactions between an individual and the AI platform. In such a situation, placing the onus on the individual to enact discretion makes the situation further complicated.

"Consumers do not need to fear every AI-driven financial platform, but they should approach them with informed scepticism. AI can assist with financial information, yet decisions involving savings, debt, insurance, retirement or investments still require transparency, human accountability and independent judgment," said Prof Madhu Veeraraghavan, pro vice-chancellor for management, law, humanities and social sciences at the Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE).

What introduces further complication is that owing to the aforementioned lack of any ethical standard of procedure or similar framework, it is not uncommon for such platforms to run their customers' queries through layers of AI, without expressly asking for consent.

"If customers are not clear on how much algorithmic systems impact their decisions due to the lack of transparency, they could watch out for some signs: highly standardised replies with minimal context, minimal human interaction, instant automated responses, etc.," said Remya Tressa Jacob, an assistant professor in the Accounting, Economics and Finance Area department at TA Pai Management Institute (TAPMI).

The lack of a policy or governance with regards to AI also shows it is by virtue elusive to such frameworks, which should be a cause for significant concern. Prof Tuhin S Banerjee, associate dean of the School for Continuing Education and Professional Studies, RV University, said, "The inherent lack of explainability in deep learning makes it difficult for financial institutions or regulators to understand the reason for the decision, thus complicating compliance. Data misuse and unauthorised profiling may happen in trying to use AI for hyper-personalisation."

8-hour water disruption in Mys Rd areas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) will undertake emergency repair works on a major leak in a 600 mm Cauvery Stage-II drinking water pipeline on May 30, causing disruption in water supply for around eight hours across several localities under the Mysuru Road service area.

BWSSB Chairman Ram Prasath Manohar said the repair work will begin at 9 am on Saturday to plug a major leak detected in the main pipeline, that supplies nearly 14 MLD of drinking water everyday to areas under the Mysuru Road service zone through the South End Circle network. Large quantities of treated drinking water is gushing out of the damaged section and causing inconvenience to motorists and pedestrians in the area. The board will temporarily shut a 24-inch valve near Surana College on South End Road for around eight hours to facilitate the emergency work.

The board expressed regret for the inconvenience caused and said normal water supply would resume immediately after completion of the repair work. BWSSB has urged residents and consumers in the affected areas to cooperate during the emergency maintenance exercise. Areas likely to face disruption in drinking water supply during the shutdown include Kasturba Nagar, Bapujinagar, Shamanna Garden, Manjunath Nagar, Hosaguddadahalli, Haleguddadahalli and Arafath Nagar.

The initiatives unveiled were the Youth Career Excellence Programme, Faculty of Eastern Knowledge Systems, Art of Living Innovation and Entrepreneurship Incubation Centre, Centre of Excellence on Consciousness Studies and Human Potential, and Eco Shanti.

Addressing the gathering, Radhakrishnan said the occasion celebrated a vision that had touched millions of lives across the world. BNP Nava Yuva protests 'toxic VIP culture'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE youth wing of Bengaluru NavaNirmana Party, BNP Nava Yuva, on Friday staged a symbolic protest at Freedom Park against what it termed Bengaluru's "toxic VIP culture", unveiling a mock "VIP IPL Ticket" and urging DK Shivakumar, whose name is doing the rounds for chief minister's post, to curb political entitlement in the city.

BNP Nava Yuva said that it decided to stage the symbolic protest after a recent controversy over the demand by legislators that they be given tickets to watch Indian Premier League matches. VIP culture is causing inconvenience to the people. It has tarnished Bengaluru's image, even contributing to the city losing an opportunity to host a home IPL final.

Rishvanjas Raghavan, president of BNP Nava Yuva, said the elected representatives prioritised privileges over civic governance while ignoring issues such as bad roads, flooding, garbage and delayed elections to civic bodies. He urged the government to ensure that public resources and civic infrastructure serve citizens first instead of politicians and their families.

Srikanth Narasimhan, founder of BNP, stressed the need for putting an end to VIP culture and called for a system that promotes equality.

The party said that its mock ticket protest marked the beginning of a wider campaign against discriminatory VIP privileges in Bengaluru and reiterated its commitment to ensuring public spaces and events remain accessible to all.

HOLIDAY MATHIS

30th May : Prelude to a Blue Moon The prelude to a blue moon brings a feeling of excess, as though life leans just past its usual edge and asks what you'll do with the extra. Dream on it. The Sagittarius lunar influence dares you to chase the idea that feels slightly illegal to admit, the one that rearranges your future, even if only in theory. The creativity drops in where reason leaves off.

What went missing turns up, perhaps in plain sight. You trace the path, study the pattern and build a better system so next time your time isn't wasted in searching for what should already be in your possession.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
The reason you don't complain is that you feel it's a waste of your time and breath to talk about what's wrong when you could be making it right. You'll put the wheels in motion.

All of the emotions are temporary. The good ones will pass. The bad ones will pass. What's less temporary is the story you tell yourself about what those feelings mean, or the actions you take in response to them.

One of the reasons love can be scary is that the feeling takes over. Suddenly you're a passenger to its whims instead of the driver. But if you could control all the turns, it wouldn't be love. Embrace uncertainty.

POLICE ADVISORY

Curbs ahead for IPL final

Celebrations on roads, firecrackers, indecent behaviour prohibited

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) reaching the final of the IPL 2026, Bengaluru City Police issued a public advisory on Friday, urging citizens to maintain law and order and follow safety guidelines during and after the match on Sunday. The advisory was issued in the aftermath of the tragedy on June 4 2025 during the RCB victory celebrations at M Chinnaswamy Stadium, where 11 people were killed and several others were injured.

Police warned that no public celebrations should be held on roads or in other public places after the final result is announced. They also prohibited bike rallies, overspeeding, stunts, unnecessary honking, and road blockades in connection with the match. LED walls facing roads cannot be installed without prior permission from the authorities concerned. Existing LED walls visible to the public should not be used to telecast the match. Screens should not be installed outside malls, pubs, or other establishments allowing public viewing of the match.

The police further prohibited the bursting of firecrackers and the use of any hazardous materials. Citizens are asked to maintain peace and discipline, especially in crowded places, and strictly follow instructions issued by traffic police personnel.

People are advised against consuming alcohol in public places, creating disturbances, engaging in fights, or behaving indecently. The advisory cautioned against sharing provocative posts, hateful messages, or rumours on social media. Police also warned cricket fans not to provoke, insult, or target supporters of other teams under the pretext of the match result, as such acts could lead to law-and-order issues.

Police urged the public to cooperate with authorities and celebrate responsibly to ensure public safety.

Mini bus ploughs into traffic, 2 killed, 3 hurt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN a chain of accidents, two motorists died and three others, including a pedestrian, were injured after the brakes of a mini-bus allegedly failed and rammed into five two-wheelers and pedestrians. The incident occurred a few metres away from Bendre Circle in the Banashankari traffic police station limits on Thursday night.

The deceased, Uday Kumar (63), a scooter rider and resident of Banashankari 2nd Stage, and Selva Kumar (52), an electric scooter rider and resident of Banashankari 3rd Stage. The injured are Kumar, Ramamurthy, and Vasanthanath.

According to the police, at around 8.40 pm, mini-bus driver Nagaraja, after dropping off a private company employee, was returning to his house in Laggere. As it was raining and traffic was moving slowly, he allegedly lost control of the mini-bus and rammed into five two-wheelers and pedestrians near AM Hospital in Kadirenahalli.

All five injured persons were rushed to a nearby hospital. However, Uday Kumar and Selva Kumar succumbed to their injuries despite treatment, while the remaining three victims are undergoing treatment and are said to be out of danger.

The mini-bus driver, Nagaraja, told the police that he lost control of the vehicle due to brake failure. Police, along with Regional Transport Office (RTO) officials, are examining the vehicle to ascertain the cause of the accident. A case of rash and negligent driving has been registered at the Banashankari traffic police station.

Tobacco-linked cancers up among young

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AHEAD of World No Tobacco Day on May 31, cancer specialists warned about the growing and under reported burden of tobacco-related cancers in India and stated that tobacco is linked to nearly 30 different forms of cancer, increasingly emerging among younger Indians.

While lung cancer remains the most recognized consequence of tobacco use, leading oncologists and public health experts warn that India is witnessing a dangerous rise in several lesser-known but equally deadly tobacco-related cancers, including cancers of the esophagus, stomach, pancreas, kidney, bladder and liver.

Global cancer research shows that tobacco contributes to nearly one-third of all cancer deaths worldwide and remains one of the largest preventable causes of cancer. India continues to have one of the world's highest burdens of tobacco use, particularly smokeless tobacco consumption like chewing tobacco, snuff, or khaini, which significantly increases risks of oral and head & neck cancers.

Doctors highlighted that after lung cancer, head and neck cancers are now among the most common tobacco-related cancers in India, driven by both smoking and smokeless tobacco consumption with an increase of aggressive cancers among very young tobacco users.

Dr Radheshyam Naik, founder, medical director and head of medical oncology, Haematology & Bone Marrow Transplantation Unit at Sammprada Hospital, said that "Tobacco is not just about lung cancer anymore. We are witnessing a growing burden of esophageal, pancreatic, bladder, stomach and liver cancers linked directly to tobacco exposure. Many of these cancers are diagnosed late and are extremely aggressive. What is particularly worrying is that patients are now presenting at younger ages because tobacco exposure is beginning earlier in life."

Dr K Prabhakara Rao, tobacco control expert, emphasised on there being "no safe level of tobacco exposure." He said, "The risk depends on how early tobacco use begins, how long a person uses it and the intensity of exposure. The earlier young people start smoking or chewing tobacco, the greater the lifetime cancer risk."

Experts called for stronger public awareness campaigns focused not only on lung cancer but on the broader spectrum of tobacco-linked diseases and the need for early screening, stronger tobacco control measures and targeted interventions among youth.

2 JUVENILES AMONG 5 HELD FOR BURGLARY

BENGALURU: The Jayanagar police arrested five persons including two juveniles in a housebreak theft case. Eight valuable watches of various brands worth Rs 6 lakh was seized. The 55-year-old complainant, G Syed Mohammed Akbar who runs a travels agency and lives in Syndicate Bank Colony in Arakere filed the complaint at Jayanagar Police Station on May 19. He said that he owns a house opposite Shalini playground in Jayanagar 4th T Block and visits it occasionally to check on it. On May 19, Syed's neighbour called and informed him that the lock on the door was broken. When he came and checked, he found that items stored in the room cupboard were stolen. "The next day, two persons were taken into custody near Byrasandra in Jayanagar 1st Block and questioned. During the inquiry, it was found that both were juveniles. The accused often came to play in the playground. After seeing that Syed's house is always locked, they hatched a plot to commit a theft. They confessed that they committed the house theft along with three other persons and stated that the stolen items were with their accomplices. On May 21, the two juveniles were handed over to the custody of the Bala Mandira. The remaining accused were taken into custody near a temple in Tilak Nagar," police said. ENS

‘FRONTRUNNER’ SATISH SAYS SIDDU, DKS WILL DECIDE NEXT KPCC CHIEF

Calls reports of MLAs collecting signatures against Siddu as false & baseless speculation

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

AS the Congress high command weighs a crucial leadership transition in Karnataka, senior party leader Satish Jarkiholi has positioned himself at the centre of the fast-evolving power equations, declaring that the final decision on the next Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president would rest with the outgoing Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and CM in-waiting DK Shivakumar after consultations with party leaders in Delhi.

Satish said that the Congress high command had entrusted Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar with the responsibility of deciding whether the party would continue with the present KPCC leadership or opt for a new face. Shivakumar is leading the Congress in the state since 2020.

“Complete responsibility of deciding who should lead the KPCC has been left to these two leaders,” Satish said, underlining the growing importance of the Siddaramaiah-Shivakumar equation in determining the party’s future in Karnataka.

In a politically significant statement with wider caste and community implications, Satish also openly expressed readiness to lead the influential AHINDA bloc— comprising minorities, backward classes and Dalits— long considered the core social base of Siddaramaiah’s politics. “There is a need for someone to lead the AHINDA communities in Karnataka. I am ready to shoulder that responsibility,” he said, in what is being viewed as a strong signal of his expanding political ambitions within the Congress.

Satish dismissed reports of MLAs allegedly collecting signatures against Siddaramaiah as “false and baseless speculation” and asserted that the leadership transition was unfolding peacefully as part of an understanding reached at the high command level.

According to him, even senior state leaders were unaware of the final decision taken in Delhi until it was formally communicated by the Congress leadership. He maintained that Siddaramaiah’s proposed exit from the CM’s post was not the result of pressure tactics or rebellion within the party, but part of a broader political arrangement worked out by the high command.

Indicating that Shivakumar was expected to formally assume charge soon, Satish described such transitions as a natural process in politics.

Keeping suspense alive over the possibility of additional DCM posts, he said the issue would be decided only after the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting.

Meanwhile, sources in the Congress said AICC General Secretary and Karnataka incharge Randeep Singh Surjewala has reportedly offered the KPCC president’s post to Satish amid intense lobbying by several senior leaders.

However, Satish is believed to have conveyed that he prefers to continue as a cabinet minister while simultaneously heading the state Congress unit, a formula that has gained traction after Shivakumar successfully retained the KPCC presidency while holding key ministerial portfolios in the government.

Sources close to Satish said that his supporters have strongly advised him against resigning from the cabinet, arguing that holding both positions would significantly enhance his political clout ahead of crucial developments in Karnataka politics.

Cong chants unity mantra, but only underlines underlying strain

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

EVEN as the Grand Old Party faced continuous factional challenges and internal rivalries over the past three years, on Friday it put on a fresh display of unity as Chief Minister Siddaramaiah resigned and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar is set to succeed him.

In a lengthy statement on X, Shivakumar lavished praise on Siddaramaiah, describing him as a “pillar of strength”, and underscoring the need for collective leadership. “Ever since I was entrusted with the responsibility of serving as KPCC President in 2020, Siddaramaiah avaru has stood firmly beside me like a pillar of strength. Together, we have worked shoulder to shoulder in strengthening the party and taking its vision to the people,” Shivakumar wrote.

“It has been a privilege to serve alongside him as Deputy Chief Minister and to continuously learn from his experience, wisdom, and political foresight. I sincerely hope his guidance will continue to inspire and strengthen all of us in the years ahead as we work towards Karnataka’s progress and welfare,”

he added. Quoting the proverb, “If you want to walk fast, walk alone. If you want to walk far, walk together”, Shivakumar concluded by saying he looked forward to carrying the journey forward together for the people of Karnataka.

The effusive tribute comes after three years of frequent “unity” meetings, photo-ops, joint public appearances, breakfast meetings and statements aimed at downplaying reported differences between the Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar camps.

Political observers pointed out that the Congress high command had to repeatedly intervene to manage factional pulls, caste equations, and leadership ambitions ever since the party came to power in 2023.

Siddaramaiah formally resigned on Thursday, after completing the major part of the term under a power-sharing deal. Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot has accepted the resignation, and a Congress Legislature Party meeting is expected to formally elect Shivakumar as the new leader on Saturday, paving the way for him to take oath as CM.

While the leadership transition appears smooth on the surface, the heavy emphasis on unity once again highlights the underlying strains within the party. With the Assembly elections two years away, Congress appears keen to project stability and cohesion to prevent any damage from internal discord becoming a political liability.

“There is much talk of unity between Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar and the smooth transfer of power is cited as evidence. But it is all orchestrated as the approach of the two to politics, their central goals and strategies to achieve them and their political persona are different. An artificial unity is projected to keep the governance smooth and ensure the party unitedly faces the 2028 battle as the BJP-JDS coalition is expected to challenge Congress,” said Prof Jayaramu, a political analyst.

No new budget, DKS may launch big initiative

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

WITH nearly 10 months remaining in the current financial year, DK Shivakumar, who is likely to be sworn in as Chief Minister soon, may look at announcing a major policy initiative aimed at benefiting a larger section of society and making an immediate impact.

While Shivakumar is unlikely to present a fresh budget, he is expected to bring in a supplementary budget to accommodate his policy priorities and flagship initiatives.

In March this year, Siddaramaiah had presented a Rs 4.48 lakh crore budget. Now in May, Shivakumar is unlikely to make any changes in the budget. Speaking to The new Indian Express, Congress MLA from Kunigal, Dr HD Ranganath, a close associate of Shivakumar, said he was told to work on farmers health. “We are working on it. Shivakumar is keen to provide best health care to farmers across the state,’’ he said. This is also Shivakumar’s pet project and he is working on it, which will be announced after he becomes the CM, he added.

Shivakumar is also keen in bringing a policy to ensure 10,000 government schools are adopted by corporate companies, industrialists and private educational institutions. “Through their corporate social responsibility, Shivakumar wants to ensure these government school get better infrastructure,” he said, adding that Shivakumar wants to ensure that more number of children enrol in government schools.

Senior Congress leader N Chaluvarayaswamy said Shivakumar may not present a budget. “Instead, he will stress on revenue mobilisation and focus on development works,” he said.

Congress sources said Shivakumar is keen in changing the image of Bengaluru. With Greater Bengaluru Authority polls approaching, Shivakumar, who was holding the Bengaluru Development portfolio, will take up issues related to roads on priority. “It may not be a supplementary budget. The CM can present a fresh budget if he chooses to. However, governments generally do not do so when there is only a change in leadership within the same party,” a government official said.

With limited time, Shivakumar will get to present his full fledged budget only in 2027 for the financial year 2027-2028. “Later in 2028, Karnataka will go for elections and though he gets to present budget in 2028, this may not work. His vision and priorities will be announced in the next few days,” sources said.

‘In every Kannadiga’s heart’: Netas’ emotional farewell to their leader

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ON a day when Karnataka Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot accepted Chief Minister Siddaramaiah’s resignation, many Congress leaders penned emotional notes recalling their association with the latter and what they have learnt from him.

Taking to social media platform X, Congress leader Santosh Lad, said that he was groomed under Siddaramaiah’s mentorship. “I served as an MLA and a minister in Siddaramaiah’s government. I carried out my responsibilities alongside him and as per his guidance. This will remain one of the greatest and most enduring fulfilments of my life,” Lad said, adding that he has learnt everything from Siddaramaiah.

“Siddaramaiah ensured all districts and all communities gets equal share and his love to Kannada language is uncomparable, his steps towards this is inspiring,” he said.

Lad also said Siddaramaiah might have exited from the power, but he is there in every Kannadiga’s heart.

HC Mahadevappa said Siddaramaiah is not just a person, he is a force. “By taking up a historic padayatra in Ballari, Siddaramaiah laid the foundation for the Congress’ victory. The governance he provided from 2013 to 2018 remains a significant chapter in Karnataka’s history. Rising from a small village near Mysuru to become a towering political leader, Siddaramaiah worked with determination,” he said.

Priyank Kharge, too, recalled his association with Siddaramaiah. “In my personal political life and growth, Siddaramaiah’s guidance has played a pivotal role. During my tenure handling key portfolios like IT, BT, and tourism, he instilled confidence in me. I didn’t feel overshadowed as the young minister in the cabinet, he ensured granting me the freedom to shape people-centric schemes. Even in the current term, with responsibility for two major portfolios, his guidance has been invaluable,” Priyank Kharge recalled.

Mahasabha seeks DCM post, greater representation

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

EVEN as Vokkaliga strongman DK Shivakumar is all set to ascend the chief minister’s chair in Karnataka, the All-India Veerashaiva-Lingayat Mahasabha demanded enhanced political representation for the influential community, including a deputy CM post.

The Mahasabha asserted that the Lingayats, a numerically strong and socially dominant community in the state, deserve a larger share in the power structure. The community currently holds eight ministerial berths in the Congress cabinet.

Shivakumar’s respect for Veerashaiva-Lingayat traditions has not gone unnoticed. It is recalled that he took oath in the name of Ajjayya, a revered Veerashaiva-Lingayat saint.

Many in the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee also remember how B forms for candidates were ritually touched to the saint’s sacred presence before distribution.

“In the current cultural milieu of Karnataka, every CM irrespective of the social group or community he comes from identifies with the Sharana tradition of Kayaka and Dasoha and CM-designate DK Shivakumar is no different... DKS has identified himself as a disciple of Ajjayya who comes from the lineage of Kaadu Siddeshwara, who is a revered saint of the Vachana and Sharana tradition,” political analyst BS Murthy said.

Karnataka’s recent political history is replete with examples of non-Lingayat leaders, turning to Basavanna and Lingayat traditions. Former PM HD Deve Gowda, before assuming the CM’s post and later the country’s top job, had taken Linga Deeksha in 1991 at the Moorusavira Mutt and gave up eating non-vegetarian food thereafter.

Even Siddaramaiah, who has often projected a rationalist image and maintained he is not overly religious, has openly declared himself a follower of Basavanna. It was his government that anointed Basavanna as the cultural icon of Karnataka.

The Lingayat community, known for its significant presence in northern and central Karnataka, has long played a decisive role in the state’s electoral politics. With the Mahasabha now pressing for the DCM post and greater representation, the Congress leadership faces the delicate task of balancing regional and community aspirations in the days ahead.

Congress sources indicate that any decision on the leadership transition and cabinet will have to carefully factor in these demands to maintain internal harmony and community goodwill.

I’M READY TO TAKE UP ANY RESPONSIBILITY GIVEN BY CONGRESS, SAYS ESHWAR KHANDRE

Senior Congress leader and national president of the All-India Veerashaiva Lingayat Mahasabha, Eshwar Khandre, said on Friday that he is a loyal party worker and is ready to take up any responsibility given by the party. Speaking to reporters in Bengaluru, he said that the Congress has always recognised those who have worked loyally and efficiently. On Siddaramaiah’s resignation, the Congress leader said the former had resigned voluntarily and that he would continue to be active in state politics. Khandre said that DK Shivakumar has done a good job as deputy CM. All the ministers in the last cabinet have fulfilled their responsibilities, and the party will gain greater strength through concerted efforts of everyone, said Khandre, who was the Minister of Forest, Ecology and Environment in the Siddaramaiah cabinet.

40 arrested on charges of sparking communal tension in Bhatkal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

Senior BJP leaders R Ashoka and Vishveshwar Hegde Kageri protest in Bhatkal on Friday

THE Uttara Kannada police have taken 40 persons into custody and started an inquiry into the communal tension which flared up in Bhatkal town on May 24, when a makeshift temple was demolished.

The police on Friday said that when the miscreants came in a large group to the Moorinakatte temple and tried to demolish it, police personnel and officers tried to stop them. "But the mob prevented the police from discharging their duties and even assaulted the government servants on duty," the police said and added, "An individual who was filming the entire incident was also beaten up and his mobile phone was snatched by them. Based on this incident, five criminal cases have been lodged in Bhatkal Town Police Station and an inquiry is on".

Stating that the miscreants blocked the highway as they ransacked the temple and interrupted the traffic, the police said that in the wake of National Highway-66 widening work, the NHAI had allocated the government land adjacent to the temple on the highway.

"The temple was being constructed for shifting the old Moorinakatte temple and the deity which has been there for several decades. At that time a person, Mothib Mohammed, resident of Azad Nagar, Bhatkal, videographed the incident and posted it on social media. This triggered communal tension. A criminal case was registered against him and he has been arrested and produced before a court," the police said.

As part of measures to ensure peace in the taluk, 850 police personnel have been deployed in the town's sensitive areas. The police has appealed to the public not to pay heed to any provocative information. "We have kept a tab on social media and strict action will be initiated against anyone who posts sensitive information," the police said.

Ashoka, Kageri lead BJP protest rally in Bhatkal

BHATKAL (UTTARA KANNADA): Demanding the reconstruction of the Moorinakatte temple at the same place on NH-66 where it was demolished by a group of people from another community, the district BJP on Friday held a massive protest rally in Bhatkal town on Friday. The protest was led by Leader of Opposition in Legislative Assembly, R Ashok and Lok Sabha MP Vishveshwar Hegde Kageri against the vandalising of the makeshift temple which took place on May 24, 2026. BUT names of former ministers Priyank Kharge and G Parameshwara are doing the rounds, and one of them could also be appointed as DCM, taking the total number to four, if it happens, sources privy to Friday's parleys in New Delhi said. Siddarmaiah also insisted on retaining his trusted aide Zameer Ahmed as minister and inducting his legal advisor, AS Ponnanna, in the new cabinet.

"It is not decided yet whether the cabinet will have deputy chief ministers. That will be decided by the high command," a source informed TNIE, while not ruling out appointing DCMs to achieve the caste arithmetic.

As former ministers Parameshwara and MB Patil rushed to Delhi following a call from Siddaramaiah and the party high command, there is a likelihood of them getting an opportunity to play key roles in the new government, even getting the DCM posts, the sources added. Former minister KH Muniyappa, who is also camped in Delhi, lobbied strongly for a DCM post, another source said.

As both Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar have provided their lists of MLAs for ministerial berths, AICC General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal will take a final decision on it.

Sources said Shivakumar will take oath with nine other MLAs – including picks by Siddaramaiah – and the cabinet will be expanded after the Rajya Sabha polls on June 18. Former ministers Ramalinga Reddy, George, Satish Jarkiholi and Byrathi Suresh are likely to be on that list.

Meanwhile, plans are afoot for the oath-taking ceremony to be held on the grand steps of Vidhana Soudha as Shivakumar wants to follow the legacy of former chief ministers late Ramakrishna Hegde and late SM Krishna. Rahul and Wayanad MP Priyanka Gandhi Vadra are expected to take part, while Shivakumar expects Congress Parliamentary Party (CPP) chief Sonia Gandhi to attend, sources added.

After daylong meetings, Shivakumar said, "Everything is happening as requested by the high command. Nothing has been decided. Tomorrow we have called the CLP meeting, and our central leaders have to come as we have to discuss with our high command."

Congress General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala, who was present during Siddaramaiah's hour-long meeting with Rahul, said, "It was a very pleasant meeting. They discussed multiple political issues."

Asked if the transition will be smooth in Karnataka, he said, "Absolutely. There is no hurdle in the smooth transition of power in the state."

Siddu appoints Justice Desai as SHRC chairman

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

QUID PRO QUO?

IN one of his final decisions before stepping down as chief minister, Siddaramaiah appointed retired Justice PN Desai as Chairperson of the Karnataka State Human Rights Commission, triggering fresh allegations of political favouritism. The state government decided to appoint Justice Desai around May 21, just days before Siddaramaiah submitted his resignation on May 28.

Critics claim the timing reflects a quid pro quo situation, as Justice Desai had earlier headed the single-member judicial commission that inquired into the high-profile Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) land allotment case involving the chief minister's wife, Parvathi Siddaramaiah. The Justice Desai Commission gave a clean chit to Siddaramaiah and his family, concluding that the allotment of alternative sites by MUDA was not illegal. The report was accepted by the state cabinet in September 2025.

A sharp social media post captured the prevailing scepticism: "Siddaramaiah is not a person who keeps anyone's debt. Justice PN Desai - remember him? He was the head of the one-man inquiry commission formed in connection with the land allotment case involving the Chief Minister's wife."

The MUDA case had become a major political embarrassment for the Siddaramaiah government. Opposition parties alleged that Parvathi Siddaramaiah received 14 compensatory sites in a prime Mysuru layout in exchange for ancestral land, in violation of rules. The government appointed Justice Desai to probe the allegations, amid intense pressure. His report largely exonerated the family while recommending action against some officials. Political observers note that appointing the same judge who provided a favourable report to head the state's premier human rights body -- and on the eve of the CM's own exit -- has raised eyebrows even within political circles. Such last-minute appointments by outgoing regimes are often viewed as attempts to reward loyalists or settle obligations before power changes hands.

The appointment was cleared by a panel that included Siddaramaiah himself, Legislative Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti, Assembly Speaker UT Khader, and leaders of opposition. With DK Shivakumar widely expected to take over as CM shortly, questions are being raised over if the new administration will revisit or let stand such appointments made in the final days of the Siddaramaiah regime.

COASTAL REGIONS TO SEE DANGEROUS TEMP SPIKES

Study says spike will be 1.5°C in Tamil Nadu and Kerala this summer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

INDIA'S coastline spanning around 11,000 km stands at the risk of experiencing severe heat spikes. Around 40 coastal districts, many of which are in Tamil Nadu and Kerala, will see summer temperatures spiking by approximately 1.5 degrees Celsius, bringing them close to high summer wet-bulb temperatures, nearing the 31 degrees Celsius level that is considered dangerous for humans, stated a report released by Azim Premji University (Bengaluru) on Friday.

The study uses Coupled Model Intercomparison Project Phase 6 (CMIP6) model projections corrected for regional bias to improve accuracy. It warned that the window for adaptation is rapidly narrowing as the 1.5 degrees Celsius warming threshold is expected to be reached across India's administrative regions in the near future.

Findings of the study make for alarming reading. Ernakulam is projected to record the highest increase in maximum summer temperatures among all coastal districts, with a projected increase of 1.3 degrees Celsius. Coastal Maharashtra and Gujarat are expected to get above-normal rainfall, with Surat seeing almost a 23% increase in rainfall during monsoon.

Sea levels are projected to rise by 15 cm by 2050, driving out populations and livelihoods in regions like Ganjam in Odisha. Rapid acceleration in sea surface temperatures (0.27 degree Celsius per decade) is also increasing the likelihood of intense tropical cyclones.

"The data in this report is a mirror that reflects a reality we can no longer afford to ignore. Whether it is the heat stress in Ernakulam or the rising salinity in the Sundarbans, our vulnerability is visible in all aspects of our daily lives," said Harini Nagendra, director at the School of Climate Change and Sustainability, Azim Premji University.

Upa Lokayukta takes up suo motu case against man for graft allegations

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

UPA Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa registered a suo motu case to conduct an inquiry into 'baseless' derogatory allegations made by one MB Nagannagowda from Mandya district.

In view of Nagannagowda's reply to the notice issued by Lokayukta police that he will provide evidence if the case is registered and cooperate with the probe, the Upa Lokayukta registered a case under Sections 7(2) and 9(3) of the Karnataka Lokayukta Act to conduct an inquiry into the matter.

Directing Nagannagowda to provide by June 1 the names of persons involved in collecting money with evidence, including any audio clip, conversation or video clip, the Upa Lokayukta cautioned him that they will register a criminal case against him if he fails to provide the same, under Section 17 of the Karnataka Lokayukta Act. It empowers them to register a criminal case for causing intentional insult to the Lokayukta or Upa Lokayukta, bringing disrepute or causing a hurdle to discharge duty, considering the conspiracy behind baseless allegations made by him, besides making statements in social media.

In an undated letterhead of Karnataka Rakshana Vedike and Karunada Sevakaru Sanghatane, Mandya, Nagannagowda addressed a letter to the chief secretary, alleging that a bribe is being collected from government officials and employees of different departments in Mandya and Malavalli, ahead of the arrival of Upa Lokayukta to hear cases pending against them.

He alleged that a person from the district administration, a lawyer and lower-rung officials of the Lokayukta are involved in collecting lakhs of rupees from panchayat level officers to class-1 officials, with an assurance that they will get either a clean chit or lesser punishment in cases pending before the Upa Lokayukta. Around Rs 25 lakh was collected and given (not specified to whom) when the Upa Lokayukta visited last time. This time, officials were mandated to give more money. If not, raids would be conducted against officials and their departments and money collection crossed Rs 2 crore. This was being debated in public in Mandya, damaging the trust in the Lokayukta. In view of this, "I am committed to providing details of persons who have collected the money", Nagannagowda stated, urging the chief secretary to order a probe.

They stated that Nagannagowda had said some private persons were collecting money and misusing the name of Upa Lokayukta, which is different from the allegations made in the complaint to the chief secretary and Lokayukta police on May 21. It is clear that prima facie they are trying to create confusion among the public by giving two versions, he noted.

No suicide bid, inquiry must be meaningful: HC

THE inquiry shall not be a ritualistic exercise, but a meaningful examination into the disturbing casualness with which liberty was imperilled, it added.

The wife attempted suicide by jumping from the second floor of the building in October 2025 when her husband came home inebriated and tried to assault her. But she survived with broken legs and a broken backbone, and later recovered.

In the complaint she filed with the Banaswadi police, it is clear that she attempted suicide. The police arrested the husband and conducted an investigation. They later filed a chargesheet for offences punishable under Sections 108, 85, 62 and 352 of BNS. But in the meantime, the man and his wife reconciled and approached the court to close the case.

The husband's counsel contended that there was no suicide at all for the petitioner to be alleged of abetment to suicide. As the man and wife had buried their differences, the court quashed the case pending against the husband.

SC panel to take stock of Bandipur night traffic ban

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

A team of officials of the Central Empowered Committee, appointed by the Supreme Court, was in Bengaluru to take stock of details of the night traffic ban on NH-766 (formerly NH-212) cutting through Bandipur Tiger Reserve, connecting to Kerala.

The team had a closed door interaction with forest officials at the head office on Friday before undertaking a field visit on Saturday and Sunday.

Sources in the department said with the Supreme Court ordering status quo on the stretch and the matter still pending, the CEC was taking details before making a field visit and submitting an independent report. Issues pertaining to the increasing man-animal conflict in Karnataka were also discussed, particularly the Mysuru Sulthan Bathery Road.

The source added that the SC also sought multiple options and proposals on tackling the issue, which have also been raised by Priyanka Gandhi and the Keralam government. The list included construction of a tunnel road on the 20km stretch that passes through Bandipur Tiger Reserve, but nothing was finalized, sources added.

Discussions were also held on concerns raised in drafting in Kali Tiger Reserve, which include safety of tourists and areas to be regulated. A discussion on rationalising and redefining the boundaries of Shettihalli Wildlife Sanctuary was also held. The department has only submitted its proposals and work done. The final report will be prepared by the CEC and submitted to the apex court, the source added.

The CEC team had visited Bengaluru around two months ago for a ground report on Bannerghatta National Park eco-sensitive zone, which is also being heard in the Supreme Court.

As per details obtained, the CEC team will visit Bandipur and interact with officials and also take stock of motivation measures being taken to address man-animal conflict on May 30. The team will inspect Sulthan Bathery Road on May 31. Following this, they will head to Nagarahole Tiger Reserve to inspect the Mysuru-Mananthawadi Road and then to Chikkamagaluru and Shivamogga on June 1 to take stock of the ground situation on conflicts and other concerns of stakeholders. On June 2, the team will inspect Sharavathi Pumped Storage plant, which is pending Central government approval. The CEC team will head to Kali Tiger Reserve on June 3 to check on rafting permissions for adventure sports, and rafting sites in the Kali river before heading to Delhi.

State ropes in ex-servicemen for govt postings

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

THE state government departments are roping in ex-servicemen for various government postings on honorarium basis. Presently they are working with the Greater Bengaluru Authority in solid waste management, lake protection, Indira Canteens and patrolling. Some are also working in the state forest department in the special protection forces and Project Tiger. Now the government is looking to deploy the retired in departments where aggressive ground work is required like the revenue and survey departments. This is being done not just to meet the staff crunch in the departments, but also ensure there is discipline and zero corruption. The department heads also point that there is limited training required while roping them for they can be easily groomed. The ex-servicemen that are being involved come from different cadres including Naiks, Subedars, Hawaldars and even Colonels.

"We need people urgently to help in faster governance. Recruitment is a challenge presently in the government due to multiple reasons including reservation, financial constraints and court cases. This is the reason why temporary or contract staff is being hired. So under this category, ex-servicemen are being looked at as the best option," said a senior official in GBA.

Another official from the revenue department said, "Ex-servicemen are disciplined. They work as told to. They can be trusted and this will help in ensuring proper surveys and recovery of encroached land. They have a strong personality."

However the wages which are being offered are not helping them draw the required numbers. The GBA is paying them between Rs 25,000-30,000 a month and are made to work all seven days of the week. In case of the forest department, it has been proposed to pay them up to Rs 50,000. "While the government had approved for permanent recruitment in 2,000 posts, we prefer ex-servicemen because they will need little training and they do not object staying inside the forests. There will be better enforcement and forest protection if they are on ground," said a forest official.

FKCCI flags minimum wage revision, power tariff hike

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI) on Friday expressed concern over the state government's recent revision of minimum wages, saying it has placed additional pressure on labour-intensive micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs).

Speaking at the inauguration of FKCCI's Global MSME Conclave, FKCCI President Uma Reddy said the chamber supports worker welfare and fair wages, but stressed that wage policies must strike a balance between employee welfare and business sustainability.

"FKCCI supports worker welfare and fair wages. However, wage policy must balance welfare with sustainability. Sustainable wages must go hand in hand with sustainable enterprises and sustainable employment," she said.

Reddy also highlighted the issue of rising power tariffs, saying they directly affect competitiveness, pricing and exports. "Karnataka's industries need predictable and affordable energy to compete globally," she added.

Responding to FKCCI's call for greater ease of doing business, Karnataka Chief Secretary Shalini Rajneesh said the government remains committed to strengthening the state's business ecosystem.

"Innovation is no longer limited to large corporations. We are continuously working towards simplifying regulatory processes and facilitating faster approvals to improve ease of doing business," she said.

Rajneesh also referred to the government's Campus to Career initiative and urged FKCCI to share industry expectations regarding employability so that young people can be trained accordingly. She called on employers to provide more apprenticeship opportunities to help students gain practical workplace experience.

Monsoon may hit Kerala within week, El Nino in June

SHAINU MOHAN @T'Puram

THE much-awaited onset of the southwest monsoon remains uncertain, with the India Meteorological Department (IMD) forecasting on Friday that the monsoon is likely to reach Kerala within a week.

Earlier, the IMD had predicted an early onset around May 26. Meanwhile, the threat of El Nino looms large, as the IMD has indicated the possible development of a weak El Nino in June, which could influence rainfall patterns throughout the monsoon season. However, many weather models indicates the arrival of monsoon between June 2 - 4. MET Director Neetha K Gopal told TNIE that a cyclonic circulation over Lakshadweep is currently affecting the strengthening of the westerly winds essential for the monsoon onset. "We cannot say yet that it's a delayed monsoon; it's still expected within the normal window. The monsoon would be considered delayed only if onset happens after June 8," said Neetha K Gopal. However, the southern and central parts of the state are currently witnessing monsoon-like weather conditions.

"We are getting the rains due to the low-level westerly winds. These are precursor conditions associated with the advancing edge of the monsoon. We are expecting stronger westerly currents over the coast once the cyclonic system moves," said Neetha K Gopal. The IMD expects normal-range rainfall over Kerala during the next two weeks.

AP to witness above-normal heatwave in June

Andhra Pradesh is likely to experience above-normal heatwave days and higher-than-normal maximum temperatures during June 2026, according to the seasonal forecasts issued by the IMD. The southwest monsoon season (June to September) is likely to remain below normal in the State along with others in the South Peninsular India, with rainfall projected at less than 94% of the Long Period Average. Several districts in Andhra Pradesh are expected to receive normal rainfall, including Srikakulam, Parvathipuram Manyam, Vizianagaram, Visakhapatnam, Anakapalle, Alluri Sitarama Raju, BR Ambedkar Konaseema, East Godavari, Krishna and Kakinada. Deficit rainfall is likely in Polavaram, Eluru and West Godavari districts, while Bapatla, Guntur, Palnadu and Prakasam may receive above-normal rainfall. ENS

IMD predicts extended heatwave in Telangana

Telangana may be headed for a difficult and uncertain monsoon season, with the IMD forecasting below-normal rainfall across South Peninsular region even as parts of the state continue to reel under prolonged heatwave conditions under El Nino effect. More worrying for the state is the IMD's June forecast, which indicates that isolated pockets of the state are likely to continue experiencing more heatwave days than normal, even after the official onset of the southwest monsoon season.The IMD, New Delhi, on Friday released its second-stage long-range forecast for the 2026 Southwest Monsoon, projecting seasonal rainfall at 90 percent of the Long Period Average, placing the country in the "below-normal" rainfall category. UDF GOVT UNVEILS ROADMAP BUILT ON INDIRA GUARANTEES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ T'Puram

THE UDF government's maiden policy address, delivered by Governor Rajendra Arlekar in the Kerala Assembly on Friday, laid out a roadmap centred on implementing the five Indira Guarantees, enhancing transparency in governance through public disclosure of the state's finances, and pursuing ambitious infrastructure projects aimed at positioning Kerala as a major port and aviation hub.

Notably, the address steered clear of any direct criticism of the BJP-led Union government, providing the Opposition LDF with an opportunity to target the ruling front. Defending the omission, Chief Minister VD Satheesan said a policy address was meant to articulate the government's vision and priorities.

Any criticism of the Centre, if warranted, would be raised by the government in due course, he added. The address reiterated the government's commitment to implementing the Indira Guarantees, including free travel for women in KSRTC buses, a monthly stipend of Rs 1,000 for college-going girls, an increase in welfare pensions to Rs 3,000, health insurance coverage of up to Rs 25 lakh per family, financial assistance of Rs 5 lakh for aspiring young entrepreneurs, and the creation of a dedicated department for elderly welfare.

Even while acknowledging the severe strain on the state's finances, the government expressed hope that the proposed White Paper on Kerala's fiscal health would pave the way for corrective measures. "The White Paper will be placed before the people to provide a clear picture of the State's finances and to lay the foundation for a transparent and responsible financial recovery strategy," the Governor said.

Under the banner of 'Dream Projects', the policy address unveiled plans to transform Kerala into an integrated port-led economic hub by harnessing the full potential of its coastline.

In a first, girl students in Kerala schools will be entitled up to three days of menstrual leave every month, as the UDF government expands the benefit that was until now available only to students in higher educational institutions. This apart, the government, through the Governor's policy address, also announced six months of maternity leave for women employed in the unorganised sector. In another major initiative, workplaces with more than 50 employees will be required to provide safe, high-quality daycare centres, a move aimed at making workplaces more women-friendly while easing childcare responsibilities for working mothers.

Migrant worker beaten to death in TN village

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

A migrant worker was allegedly beaten to death by a group of people at RR Kandigai village near Tiruvallur on Thursday after he allegedly misbehaved with women residents of the village. The deceased was identified as Prosenjit Das (35), a native of Assam. The people involved in the attack are yet to be identified, police said.

According to the Vengal police, Prosenjit was one among six migrant workers who had arrived at Amanapakkam village, under Tamarapakkam panchayat in Ellapuram union, on Thursday morning in search of work. Later in the day, he allegedly consumed alcohol and went to RR Kandigai village.

In an inebriated condition, Prosenjit entered a house in the village and misbehaved with the women who were present inside. Following this, family members of the house chased him away after assaulting him, the police said.

He then allegedly entered another house in the village and picked quarrels with some women and other residents. As they raised an alarm, public intervened and Prosenjit allegedly attacked them as well. Enraged by his actions, a group of villagers gathered and assaulted him. Prosenjit collapsed during the attack and died on the spot, the police said.

On receiving information, the Vengal police rushed to the scene and recovered his body. It was later sent to the Tiruvallur Government Hospital for post-mortem examination. A case has been registered and investigation is under way into the circumstances that led to the death.

7 DALITS INJURED IN SICKLE ATTACKS BY MASKED GANGS IN TENKASI, TIRUNELVELI

In a grim reminder of the Perumpathu violence in which a Dalit was killed in March, seven Scheduled Caste people were injured in sickle attacks by masked gangs in two separate incidents in Tenkasi and Tirunelveli districts on Thursday and Friday evening. According to sources, a gang of nine people with their faces covered by cloth arrived at Mathakovil Street of Nettur village in Tenkasi district between 5.30pm and 6pm on three two-wheelers that did not have number plates. "All of a sudden, without any provocation, they drew out sickles and attacked people indiscriminately on the street where most of the residents are SC-Christians. Six locals and one person from Ayikudi town were injured in the attack. While one of them was treated at a local hospital, five others were first sent to Government Hospital in Alangulam and then to Tirunelveli Medical College Hospital for treatment," sources added. ENS

DESPITE repeated objections from the accused family, the Nirale family went ahead with the purchase which angered the accused family, sources said.

On Friday afternoon, Nirale family members went to the farmland to prepare it for sowing operations ahead of monsoon. Members of the accused family, who learnt about it, reached the spot and objected to the Nirale family carrying out the agricultural work.

What began as a verbal altercation, soon escalated into a violent confrontation. The attackers allegedly assaulted the victims with deadly weapons, including the sickle commonly used for cutting sugarcane, and allegedly killed the six on the spot. Though initial reports stated that there was firing during the attack, police sources said no visible bullet injuries were found on the bodies of the victims during the initial examination. Any confirmation will come after the postmortem, an official said.

The crime took place reportedly between 3 pm and 4 pm. But the villagers, gripped by fear and panic, did not inform the police immediately. The police came to know about it nearly an hour later.

The bodies were later shifted to the District Government Hospital for postmortem. Superintendent of Police Laxman Nimbargi said the investigation will cover all angles. The police said the first information report is yet to be filed at the Chadachan Police Station.

23-year-old Kerala girl trots the globe, draping saris on celebrities

BIJU E PAUL @Alappuzha

THE art of sari draping has become a highly lucrative career option; and Kerala girl Clare Maria Sebastian its expert.

Just 23, the resident of Kainakari in Kuttanad has already gained recognition for styling some of the country's most influential women – from actors Amala Paul and Nimisha Sajayan to business icon Nita Ambani. While most women drape their saris themselves, special occasions like weddings often call for expert hands, like Clare's. For the youngster, what began as a simple favour for a college friend has now taken her across countries and into celebrity circles, transforming her life.

Having lost her father Sebastian while she was in Class 8, Clare was supported and encouraged by her mother Fancy and aunt Lalamma. Ever the stylist, Clare would drape saris on her cousins and neighbours while studying at St Mary's Higher Secondary School in Chambakulam. And her eye for elegance and detail would always elicit praise. However, it was in 2022, while she was pursuing BBA at St Paul College in Kalamassery, that Clare's destiny changed.

Clare Maria with actor Amala Paul

During the Onam celebrations on campus, her friend Rinsa Parveen asked Clare to help drape her sari. Impressed by the final look, Rinsa recorded a video and uploaded it to Instagram. The response was overwhelming. Soon after, Rinsa created an Instagram page titled 'Drapes by Clare', posting more videos of Clare at work. One of the clips went viral.

"Calls started pouring in," Clare recalls. "People wanted me to drape saris for weddings and special occasions. That was the beginning of my career," she said. Her rise since then has been meteoric. Clare soon began working with celebrities including actors Amala Paul, Ansiba Hassan, Nimisha Sajayan and several social media personalities. Destination weddings took her to Thailand, Bahrain and Bangkok.

It was one such overseas assignment that connected her to the Ambani family. During a wedding in Bahrain, Clare got a call from the office of Nita Ambani requesting her services. At the time, she could not accept the assignment due to a prior commitment. However, the opportunity present itself again and she was invited to drape saris for Nita during an inaugural event at a Mumbai hospital.

STEADY OUTLOOK RESTS ON ASSUMPTION OF SWIFT END TO GULF WAR

INDIA'S real GDP is expected to grow at 6.9 percent in 2026-27, according to the RBI's latest annual report. But the forecast comes with a rider. It rests on the assumption that the Gulf war's adverse impact would be contained in the near term. What the central bank did not estimate is the possible impact of a prolonged conflict. As the Union finance minister noted, it's undeniable that the three Fs of forex reserves, fertiliser subsidies and fuel prices are under intense pressure. On its part, the government has raised import duties on gold, and hopes that the higher duties on rising prices along with the Prime Minister's plea to defer purchases will curb demand and reduce the strain on reserves. Even if the conflict ends soon, the full impact of elevated energy prices, supply disruptions, weakening rupee and trade uncertainty will be ascertained only after a lag. For now, growth is likely to print far lower than the last three years' average of 7.3 percent.

What's concerning beyond the headline numbers is whether India will face yet another investment crisis as the global risk appetite weakens. SBI Chairman Challa Sreenivasulu Setty has warned that the war's risks are increasingly structural, with elevated public debt, volatile energy prices and growing geopolitical fragmentation posing long-term risks to global growth. This is doubly unfortunate for India, which has just overcome a structural slowdown that began before the Covid pandemic. To withstand another similar episode will be devastating for private consumption and investment. However, the RBI is optimistic that demand and supply-side factors would hold up even if the primary sector comes under pressure from a sub-normal monsoon and El Niño conditions. Implementation of various trade agreements is also expected to support growth.

The central bank's reasons for positivity also includes healthy balance sheets in the corporate and banking sectors along with the government's continued thrust on capital expenditure. That said, the first major setback will come via inflation, which is projected at 4.6 percent for 2026-27 on the RBI's assumption that crude prices would average $95 a barrel this fiscal. But if India's oil basket continues to average $110—as it has during April-May—for even a few more months, inflation and its second-round effects will not be far behind.

WAY AHEAD FOR QUAD: LESS SUMMITRY, MORE SUBSTANCE

THIS Quad's ministerial meeting in India this week showed why the grouping may be entering its most consequential phase yet—not as an Asian Nato or a summit-heavy geopolitical theatre, but as a focused coalition delivering practical public goods across the Indo-Pacific. The initiatives unveiled by India, the US, Japan and Australia—spanning energy security, maritime cooperation, critical minerals and Pacific infrastructure—reflected a deliberate shift from abstract strategic signalling towards functional coordination in areas that directly affect regional stability and economic resilience.

That evolution matters. At a time when countries across the Indo-Pacific are getting increasingly wary of binary geopolitical choices, the Quad's utility lies in its flexibility. It is positioning itself as a platform that can build capacity, diversify supply chains and strengthen regional preparedness without forcing partners into a formal military alliance. The launch of the Quad Initiative on Indo-Pacific Energy Security, proposal for a dedicated fuel security forum, enhanced maritime awareness cooperation and a new critical minerals framework all focus on solving strategic vulnerabilities through coordination rather than confrontation. The announcement that the group's members could mobilise up to $20 billion for critical mineral supply chains underlines the scale of that ambition. So does the decision to jointly support port infrastructure in Fiji, a sign of building a development and connectivity footprint in the Pacific rather than merely competing for influence.

Importantly, the meeting also suggested that Quad may be moving beyond an overdependence on summit diplomacy. The absence of clarity on the next leaders' summit sparked speculation, but the lack of advance choreography may actually reflect institutional maturity. The Quad does not need constant leader-level spectacle to remain relevant. In fact, reducing the emphasis on summitry could strengthen the grouping by allowing it to concentrate on sustained sectoral cooperation and tangible outcomes. As the US recalibrates aspects of its China approach and regional geopolitics becomes more fluid, flexible mini-lateral platforms with clearly defined goals are likely to prove more durable than rigid strategic blocs.

The Quad's strength lies not in dramatic rhetoric, but in quiet coordination on resilience, security, infrastructure, technology and supply chains. If it remains disciplined and delivery-oriented, it can emerge as one of the Indo-Pacific region's most effective platforms for collective stability and common good.

QUICK TAKE

PITCHSIDE FEVER

SATURDAY marks the last global football spectacle before the World Cup starts riding the news waves for six weeks starting June 12 (India time). But for both the Champions' League final in Budapest and the Fifa event hosted across North America, fans have a common complaint: the unprecedentedly high price for getting into stadiums. The grumbles are so loud that a small airline in Canada, one of the World Cup co-hosts, is turning heads with a clever ad showing that the cost of 'watching Portugal' (at a match) is almost five times that of 'seeing Portugal' (on a visit). Even the penny-pinching US President said he would not have paid $1,000 to watch his country's opener. Football's overlords must remember that the sport derives its power from its wide appeal across economic layers and geographies.

The Tata group's hot-and-cold battles are laying bare competing ambitions within the family. But it's also shedding unkind light on the historical contradictions in its corporate governance structures

BATTLE OF FIRE & ICE AT THE HEART OF AN EMPIRE

PROSENJIT DATTA

SOURAV ROY

A cold war that could soon explode into something far hotter is probably the best way to describe the tension gripping the Tata Trusts and Tata Sons, which control a $180-billion conglomerate. The sparring has included allegations of broken promises, lawsuits on governance lapses and even the eligibility of the trustees. The battle for control over the trusts has spilled over into the Tata Sons board, bringing into question the continuity of N Chandrasekaran as chairman and the group's new business investments that are haemorrhaging cash.

The root of the issue can be traced to the efforts of Noel Tata, chairman of the Tata Trusts and half-brother of the late Ratan Tata, to establish control over the group that bears the family name and to ensure a clearer line of succession for his children. Ranged against him are a number of Ratan's confidantes—Mehli Mistry, Venu Srinivasan and Vijay Singh, among others—who were made trustees.

But the battle for control is also shining the spotlight on governance issues plaguing one of the most respected business groups that has long tried to portray itself as a family business with a difference when it comes to ethics and shareholder rights. It has even pitted the Tata Trusts chairman, who has de facto control of Tata Sons, against the second biggest shareholder of Tata Sons—the Shapoorji Pallonji family.

It's the convoluted tale of a huge group with no clear lines of succession and a complex structure that sees a number of philanthropic trusts controlling an unlisted holding company, which in turn controls over two-dozen large listed companies. Corporate governance issues arise because the structure ensures that the Tata Trusts chairman can pull the strings of over 30 listed companies, despite actually owning only a minor stake in personal capacity.

Most big business houses in India see succession battles because they have too many claimants to the throne. The House of Tata has faced the reverse—succession has always been an issue because of the lack of eligible scions or sons who were interested in taking charge. A bit of business history is in order.

Jamsetji Tata had founded the group in 1868 and his son Dorabji succeeded him as chairman in 1904. Neither Dorabji nor his brother had a son. So the next chairman was N R Saklatvala, a cousin of the brothers. Saklatvala, in turn, handed over the group to J R D Tata, a member of the clan but not a direct descendant of the group's founder. J R D, who had no children, would eventually pass the baton to Ratan Tata in 1991. Ratan would be the last person to be chairman of both the Tata Trusts as well as Tata Sons. And therein lies the problem.

The founder and his two sons, who were philanthropists, had set up a number of trusts. They had also set up Tata Sons as the group's holding company. The trusts controlled about two-thirds of Tata Sons' shares. The second biggest holding belonged to the Shapoorji Pallonji group, which holds about 18.5 percent. The rest of the shareholding is scattered, with a small number of shares belonging to various Tata family members.

Noel's current battle for control is in some ways similar—and in other ways quite different—from the one his half-brother fought to establish his sway. Ratan Tata had to battle the group satraps even though he was JRD's handpicked successor. The problem then was that Tata Sons was a holding company of the group only in name—it was not the majority shareholder in most of them. This would lead to the CEOs and managing directors of the various Tata companies to treat them as their own fiefdoms. They deferred to JRD because of his stature and respect, but saw little reason to do the same with Ratan.

Ratan took several steps to tackle this issue. Tata Sons charged royalties for use of the Tata brand by the listed group companies, and that was ploughed back into buying up shares in the companies. This ensured that, by the middle of Ratan's tenure, Tata Sons was the major shareholder of most listed Tata companies. The control of Tata Sons over the group companies was thus firmly established.

Meanwhile, the trusts were the biggest shareholders in Tata Sons—and that wasn't a problem till Ratan Tata was at the helm of both. The structural problems arose shortly after he decided to anoint Cyrus Mistry, the younger son of Pallonji Mistry and brother of Shapoor Mistry and Aloo Tata, wife of Noel Tata, as chair of Tata Sons after a year-long search. Cyrus became the chairman of Tata Sons, but Ratan Tata controlled the trusts.

The Ratan-Cyrus relationship turned sour because of many reasons including the fact that Cyrus thought many of Ratan Tata's pet projects did not make business sense. It would lead to Cyrus's exit, engineered by Ratan through handpicked trustees and other board members.

Ratan Tata would eventually choose Chandrasekaran, a former chairman of TCS, as the Tata Sons chairman. But the trusts remained under Ratan's control till his death. Having never married, he did not have anyone to pass on the baton to. It was after his demise that Noel was voted chairman of the Tata Trusts for life, by the members of whom most were handpicked by Ratan. During Ratan's lifetime, Noel only had a say in a relatively small part of the group.

Since taking over Tata Trusts, Noel has been trying to establish his grip over the trusts and companies. He is currently batting many of those who anointed him chairman. This battle is primarily to ensure that his son Neville and two daughters Maya and Leah would be in line of succession after his tenure. He has inducted all three in the Tata Trusts.

Meanwhile, the RBI would like Tata Sons to be listed—in accordance with its new regulations governing systemically-important core investment companies. So would the Shapoorji Pallonji group, because the listing would allow it to discover the value of its shares and monetise them as and when required.

There is little reason for Noel to want that. It's the peculiar current structure that allows him to keep total control. And therein lies the cause of the tension engulfing one of India's biggest business groups.

THE POPE'S PRESENT PONDERABLES

PRATIK KANJILAL
Senior Fellow, Henry J Leir Institute of Migration and Human Security, Fletcher School, Tufts University

SPEAKEASY

IN the 5th century CE, Augustine of Hippo decided a debate in the Christian faith with a terse argument that remains quotable: "Roma locuta, causa finita (Rome has spoken, the case is closed)." It wasn't exact, but it was catchy—and it signalled that the stand of the Roman Catholic Church on issues was decisive. About 1,500 years later, Josef Stalin ended another argument concerning Christians—the Catholics in the godless USSR—with another quotable quote that may also be inexact, because we have it only via Winston Churchill: "The Pope? How many divisions has he?" It signalled the irrelevance of religious authority in the face of geopolitical power.

This week, Rome spoke once again—to weigh in on a bare-knuckled contest that was looking like a foregone conclusion. In his encyclical titled 'Magnifica Humanitas', Pope Leo XIV spoke of artificial intelligence and natural stupidity—the stupidity of the powerful who treat the rest of humanity as expendable tokens, optimisable assets or obstacles limiting the efficiency of machines. The document stated that AI must not overawe human dignity but support the common good, that it should not be weaponised or operate surveillance systems, take life-altering decisions autonomously, trigger a digital arms race or endanger workers and vulnerable people. Broadly, it said that ethics is more important than efficiency. The encyclical supports slow-growing, tentative AI which is mindful of safeguards, and it opposes fashionably reckless investment in the AI arms race.

Channelling Stalin, the headlines dramatised the Pope's message into a declaration of holy war against Big Silicon and its political allies. That's a category mistake. When popes wanted to declare war, they preached a crusade. An encyclical is routine guidance on current issues, doctrine and morals to bishops, meant for wide dispersal. In the past, many encyclicals supported progressive ideas—and many did not. Regressive communications include injunctions to oppose birth control, the denunciation of Freemasonry in 1884 and the wholesale dismissal of modernism, agnosticism and individualism in 1907.

The most famous progressive communication was Leo XIII's 'Rerum Novarum' (Of New Things) of 1891, which took a stand on social justice after the Industrial Revolution, described ideal relations between capital and labour, supported the workers' right to organise and required the State to protect their interests. It was the first social encyclical, and by its standards, many successful modern States are actually failures, because they protect the interests of elites at the expense of ordinary people.

Leo XIV's 'Magnificent Humanity' will go down in history, too, because it puts the human being at the centre of all things. The concept has a rather dark history, of course. Galileo faced the Roman Inquisition in 1633 and suffered house arrest because his universe was not geocentric—and therefore, not anthropocentric—undermining the church's authority as the shepherd of the human race.

AP

While weighing in on the perils of artificial intelligence, Leo XIV's first encyclical has kept the human at its heart. But its reminder on ethics in a technocracy stands alongside the Catholic church's historic stances against science. Today's world should not wait for pontification from the pulpit

Giordano Bruno was burned at the stake in 1600 for two crimes—rejecting a doctrine that was clearly illogical, and positing that stars are all distant suns in an infinite universe, which meant that the human race is not at its centre.

But the latest encyclical is extraordinary because it should no longer be necessary for a religious leader to weigh in on geopolitics. It should have been addressed by political and technology leaders—who are profiting from it instead. The encyclical distils anxieties expressed for years in public and on the internet. It speaks of new digital monopolies and slaveries, and a new wave of colonialism—which has always been made possible by technological advantage, from the superior weaponry and building skills of Caesar's legions in 55 BCE Britain to superior shipbuilding in Europe during the age of exploration.

Over the last fortnight, commencement speakers at several US universities have been booed for mentioning AI because young people are uneasy about their prospects, as they see mass layoffs and a contraction in entry-level hiring. A fortnight ago, in the venerable Press Gazette of London, Rob Waugh reported that four journalists covering cryptocurrency, who have over 1,000 bylines in about 30 news outlets, may not actually exist except as social media profiles. This is on top of the uncertainties created by bots and AI-written academic papers. Meta's independent oversight board, the last court of appeal for content moderation using human decision-making, is out of its depth as AI proliferates. And with drone wars in season, the threat of remote, autonomous munitions is keenly felt by all.

But the whole world is not breathlessly following the AI race—that's just the impression we get from the coverage. A couple of days after Pope Leo signed his encyclical, Cornell University hosted a thought summit on community-centred AI, which opposes "extractive, environmentally harmful practices" and promotes "community-controlled" approaches to secure environmental justice, labour equity and data sovereignty, and promotes AI for the benefit of the many. Sounds like the open-source movement all over again, which was a reaction to Microsoft's commercial monopoly.

Now, as AI companies tower over all of humanity, a reminder of ethics is timely. It should have come from legislatures long before a religious figure was goaded into action. But from the manner in which the encyclical has rippled across the world, it appears that even today, the Pope has his divisions.

12 ministers may be dropped as Cabinet rejig likely in mid-June

NDA allies could receive berths ● Organisational realignment ahead of UP, Punjab elections

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

FILE PHOTO

A major reshuffle of the Union Council of Ministers is likely between June 15 and 18, with indications that more than a dozen ministers, including several Ministers of State (MoSs), could be dropped or shifted as the BJP leadership prepares for political and organisational realignment ahead of crucial Assembly elections.

According to party sources, at least two Cabinet ministers and three MoSs are expected to exit the government. One senior Cabinet minister is likely to be assigned the responsibility of leading the BJP in a politically significant southern state within the next few days. The reshuffle is also expected to include changes in leadership across 10-12 ministries, with several ministers being reassigned to different portfolios.

Speculation is growing that NDA allies such as the JD(U), TDP, NCP and RLM could receive representation in the expanded Cabinet, with the former two possibly getting enhanced representation. While most ally representatives are expected to be accommodated at the MoS level, one or two leaders may be inducted as Cabinet ministers. Senior BJP leaders said the reshuffle is being planned with a focus on regional and social representation, particularly keeping in mind poll-bound states such as Uttar Pradesh and Punjab.

The BJP has already initiated organisational changes that are being viewed as precursors to the reshuffle. Union MoS for Finance Pankaj Chaudhary has been appointed BJP chief for Uttar Pradesh, while Harsh Malhotra, MoS for Corporate Affairs and Road Transport and Highways, has been named Delhi BJP president. Their ministerial positions are expected to be filled by new faces from either House of Parliament.

The party is also likely to appoint a Cabinet minister as Karnataka BJP chief and is preparing to announce a new president for the Manipur BJP. Sources indicated that the BJP may facilitate representation for Manipur in the Union Cabinet through the Rajya Sabha.

Several ministers whose Rajya Sabha terms are ending later this year or in early 2027 may be moved to organisational roles. Ministers above 70 and some Rajya Sabha members are also believed to be under consideration for replacement to make way for younger leaders.

Sources said some BJP Morcha leaders could be inducted into the Cabinet for the first time, depending on organisational experience and seniority. There is speculation that one Cabinet minister from Bihar may be replaced by another MP from the same caste group.

Among those reportedly under scrutiny are one MoS each from a southern state, the Northeast and Uttar Pradesh. Several senior Cabinet ministers handling key portfolios could also see changes in responsibilities.

The ministries likely to witness changes include Railways, Finance, Corporate Affairs, Coal, Textiles, Information and Broadcasting, Electronics and Information Technology, Rural Development, Chemicals and Fertilisers, Cooperation, Fisheries, Jal Shakti, Agriculture, Environment, Law and others. Some ministries may receive separate Cabinet ministers instead of being handled additionally.

There is also discussion within the party over allocating ministerial berths linked to Bihar-based allies. Sources in the party has indicated that positions in the Human Resource Development and Civil Aviation ministries at the MoS level may go to alliance partners from the state.

Class XII result re-evaluation portal launch postponed to June 1: CBSE

IFRAH MUFTI & S LALITHA @ New Delhi

THE CBSE on Friday announced that its portal for Class 12 answer sheet verification and re-evaluation will be made operational from June 1, following days of technical disruptions and student complaints.

The designated portal, which had first crashed on May 19, due to heavy traffic, subsequently faced multiple technical glitches and intermittent shutdowns.

Students attempting to apply for re-evaluation reported difficulties accessing the system, with many encountering maintenance errors, excess fee deductions, payments without receipts, etc., during crucial submission windows.

In response to mounting concerns, CBSE had initiated a technical review of its digital infrastructure. A four-member expert team, comprising specialists from IIT-Madras and IIT-Kanpur, is currently conducting a comprehensive audit of the board's IT ecosystem. According to V Kamakoti, Director of IIT Madras, the team will carry out a check-up and submit a confidential report to the Board.

According to sources, the huge issue in the payment process faced by Class XII CBSE students for obtaining their answer sheets was an outcome of the mischief created by 50-odd students who hacked into the CBSE portal, a senior education official said on Friday. "That was why the payment detail said Rs 67,000 had to be paid for gaining access to the answer sheet for a few and even Rs 1 for some students," he said.

Repeatedly stressing that the On-Screen Marking System (OMS) was transparent and foolproof, he referred to 20 individual instances where the student received scanned copies of different students. "Since the process was being implemented for the first time on such a large scale, the glitches happened. Out of the 11.38-odd lakh answer sheets sought by the students, a minuscule number in comparison faced the issue," he said.

The issues pertaining to the payment gateway have been solved with HDFC out of the picture, as they experienced an instance of malicious attack on their portal, the official said.

CBI chief briefs House panel on NEET-UG probe

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMID the ongoing controversy over the NEET-UG paper leak, the Rajya Sabha Parliamentary Committee on Government Assurances met senior officials on Friday to review the probe and preparations for June 21 re-examination. CBI Director Praveen Sood briefed the panel on the progress of the probe, arrests made, and efforts to apprehend the remaining accused.

Higher Education Secretary Vineet Joshi, NTA Director General Abhishek Singh, and officials from the National Medical Commission also attended the meeting. Officials informed the committee about steps being taken to ensure transparency and prevent malpractice during the re-exam.

The panel directed authorities to ensure that the medical admissions seat matrix and counselling schedule remain unaffected. The committee had summoned the officials after earlier assurances given in Parliament regarding NTA's exam conduct. Officials also discussed measures recommended by an expert committee.

NGT takes suo motu cognizance of extreme heatwave crisis in country

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

Urgent need for measures

The NGT stressed the urgent need for region-specific climate adaptation strategies, high-resolution thermal mapping and remote sensing, improved short-term and seasonal weather forecasting, among others.

THE Principal Bench of the National Green Tribunal (NGT) has taken suo motu cognisance of the escalating heatwave crisis in India. It has issued notices to several ministries and agencies, requesting action plans to mitigate the impact of heatwaves.

The Tribunal observed that rising temperatures are severely affecting public health, agriculture, water availability, productivity, wildlife, and the overall economy.

Citing recent data from the India Meteorological Department (IMD), the NGT noted that temperatures have soared as high as 48°C in Banda, Uttar Pradesh, while Delhi and other regions remain under severe heatwave conditions.

The bench, which includes Justice Prakash Shrivastava, Chairperson, and Dr Afroz Ahmad, Expert Member, emphasised that heatwaves have become one of India's most under-recognised environmental disasters, impacting urban and rural populations differently. The tribunal pointed out that urban areas experience intensified heat due to dense concrete structures, reduced vegetation, vehicular emissions, industrial activities, and high energy consumption. In contrast, rural areas suffer from prolonged outdoor exposure, limited cooling infrastructure, and a lack of institutional support.

The NGT stressed the urgent need for region-specific climate adaptation strategies, high-resolution thermal mapping and remote sensing, improved short-term and seasonal weather forecasting, open-access climate and geospatial data, school and community-based weather monitoring initiatives, and research on heat risks and environmental impacts.

The tribunal noted that increasing temperatures linked to climate change and human activities raise significant environmental concerns under the Environment (Protection) Act, 1986. As a result, the NGT has included several central ministries, the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), and multiple state governments, including Uttar Pradesh, Delhi, Rajasthan, Gujarat, Punjab, Uttarakhand, Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, Bihar, Jharkhand, and Chhattisgarh, among others.

The respondents have been directed to submit their responses and action plans to the tribunal via affidavits. The NGT has scheduled the next hearing for August 19, 2026.

Driest monsoon season in 10 yrs likely

THE India Meteorological Department (IMD) has revised its forecast for the southwest monsoon (June to September), lowering the expected rainfall to 90% of the long-period average (LPA), down from the previously forecasted 92%. June is also expected to experience below-normal rainfall and an increased number of heatwave days.

Additionally, the arrival of the monsoon has got delayed by a week. The IMD had initially forecast the monsoon to reach the Kerala coast by May 26, while the normal date for monsoon onset is June 1. Now, it is likely to hit Kerala towards the end of the first week of June.

Scientists have warned that the country may experience deficient rainfall, which is defined as below 89% of the LPA, while below-normal rainfall is categorised as between 90–95% of the LPA. The last time India received deficient rainfall was in the years 2014 and 2015, with 88% and 86% average respectively. The country also received below-normal rainfall in 2018 at 91% and 2023 at 94%. Expectedly, these years had proved detrimental to agriculture as production dipped and water crisis shot up significantly.

In its second-stage long-range forecast of the monsoon rainfall in 2026, the IMD indicated that India is heading towards one of the driest monsoon seasons in a decade. The country's monsoon core zone, which consists of areas of rainfed agriculture, is most likely to receive rain below 94% of the LPA, with a potential model error of ±4%.

Only east India and the Northeast are expected to receive normal rainfall, in the range of 94-106% of the LPA. The rest of the country, including the southern peninsula and central India, is anticipated to receive below 94% of the LPA, while the northwest region is expected to receive below 92% of the LPA. However, Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh, Telangana, central Andhra Pradesh, central Odisha and Chhattisgarh will receive normal to above normal rainfall.

The forecast may cause trouble for agriculture, as the regions where the IMD has predicted monsoon shortfall are important for food security, and they are already facing a fertilizer crisis due to the Iran war.

The IMD also stated that a strong El Nino, abnormal warming of the East Pacific Ocean, is expected to emerge after the monsoon, while a weak to moderate El Nino will prevail during the monsoon season. El Nino is synonymous with the weakening of the Indian monsoon. India faced deficient rainfall in 60% of the El Nino years.

However, June is likely to see below-normal rainfall, except in Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, Northeast, Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh, with average rainfall at 166.9 mm. The IMD has also reported an anticipated increase in the number of heatwave days in June. There could be two to three days with above-normal temperatures across the country, contributing to heatwave conditions. The regions expected to experience above-normal heatwave days include parts of Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, Punjab, Bihar, Odisha, Chhattisgarh, Gujarat and Andhra Pradesh and isolated regions of Maharashtra, Telangana, Himachal Pradesh and Tamil Nadu. However, below-normal heatwave days are likely over Rajasthan and Jharkhand.

Phogat can participate in Asian Games trials: SC

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

IN a major relief to wrestler Vinesh Phogat, the Supreme Court on Friday in its order permitted her to take part in the selection trials for the Asian Games set for May 30.

Declining to stay a Delhi HC order giving relief to Phogat, a two-judge bench of Justices PS Narasimha and Alok Aradhe said, "We are not stopping; you (Phogat) go and participate."

The bench directed that Phogat must be allowed to compete in the trials starting on May 30. It also issued notice to Phogat on WFI's petition, after noting that the larger issues would be examined at a later stage. However, at the same time, the court raised certain questions to her senior lawyer, Madhavi Divan, as to why she had taken a sabbatical in December 2024, indicating she would return in August 2025. She then became a mother in July 2025 and informed WFI that she would be eligible from January 1, 2026.

Justice Narasimha flagged that Phogat missed the doping whereabouts requirement.

Refusing to grant a stay on the Delhi HC order, the apex court paved the way for Phogat to participate in the trials.

The bench passed the order after hearing a plea by the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) challenging the High Court's order. During the hearing on Friday, Senior Advocate Divan argued that the matter was linked to Phogat's motherhood and sought an opportunity for her to compete. She pleaded that Phogat be allowed to take part in the trials, subject to the outcome of the case. "If I am not allowed to participate, that will be a national embarrassment," Divan submitted.

The court passed the order in favour of Phogat after recognising her talent and global achievements.

"What is concerning when the ITA test is missed is that it has a logical consequence because Indian sports are integrally connected to world sports. If some kind of disqualification appears at the global level, it reflects on India. You did not give the whereabouts for the doping test and missed the first doping test."

Justice Narasimha expressed serious surprise after going through the order of the High Court, which termed the WFI policy "exclusionary" when the rules apply uniformly. He expressed concern about the High Court treating the issue as one of hardship due to motherhood when it was essentially about compliance with ITA norms.

SC flags trend of criminal cases in marital disputes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday expressed concern over a worrying trend of litigants involved in matrimonial and commercial disputes filing "frivolous and vexatious" criminal cases to settle personal scores, and asked courts to scrutinise them meticulously.

The observations were made by a bench comprising Justices BV Nagarathna and Ujjal Bhuyan in a 50-page judgment quashing a criminal complaint that alleged a 14-year-old girl was raped by her father and uncle.

"We wish to underline a worrying trend that has come to our attention. Parties involved in matrimonial or commercial relationships with one another are resorting to filing of frivolous and vexatious claims and allegations of a criminal nature to settle personal scores and therefore turn to nefarious/oblique means to attain the said objective," Justice Nagarathna, who authored the verdict, said.

NIA raids 12 locations across 4 states, busts Pakistan-linked terror module

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE National Investigation Agency on Friday detained several people after carrying out coordinated raids at 12 locations across Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, Maharashtra and Bihar in connection with a suspected cross border narcotics smuggling and drone-delivered arms network linked to Pakistan based terror operatives.

Officials said the raids were part of an ongoing investigation into a conspiracy involving drone delivered weapons, ammunition and improvised explosive devices that were allegedly brought into India through the Indo Pakistan border. The agency believes the consignments were meant to be used in planned terror attacks in Punjab, Delhi and other parts of the country.

According to investigators, the searches focused on people suspected of helping the terror module by arranging logistics, shelter, communication facilities and transportation of illegal consignments. Several suspects were detained during the operation and are being questioned by the agency.

An NIA official said the investigation had revealed the use of drones for covert movement of weapons and explosives from across the border. The official added that the agency was trying to dismantle an emerging supply chain involving cross border smugglers, terror operatives and local facilitators working inside the country.

Sources said drones flying in from Pakistan had become a major route for smuggling narcotics, arms and ammunition to operatives linked to Pakistan based terrorist groups. Over the past few years, the BSF has seized several consignments dropped by drones near the international border.

Last month, the Union home ministry directed the NIA to register a case to probe the role of Pakistan based operative Jasvir Chaudhary, his Indian associate Shubham Kumar and several unidentified individuals.

Officials said credible information suggested that Chaudhary had instructed his Indian contacts to collect a large cache of arms, ammunition and IEDs delivered through drones from across the border.

Data analysed by the BSF showed that nearly 80% of drones intercepted over the last four and a half years from Pakistan's Punjab province had landed in Amritsar. Authorities have urged people to report suspicious drone activity as the investigation continues and more raids are expected. Officials are also examining possible foreign funding links and financial transactions connected to the network. Investigators believe more people may have provided support to accused by arranging safe houses.

Methanol suspected to have been mixed in booze on Pune outskirts

15 dead after consuming hooch, CM orders probe

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AT least 15 people have died after allegedly consuming illicit liquor in Pimpri Chinchwad, on the outskirts of Pune.

According to reports, 10 people from Pimpri Chinchwad and five from Hadapsar died after consuming hooch in the Wanwadi area. According to reports, eight deaths were reported initially, but the toll rose to 15 by noon. The deceased include two brothers, while their father survived but reportedly lost his eyesight.

Local officials said the victims fell unconscious and experienced breathing difficulties after consuming the liquor. They were later declared dead.

Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said those involved in manufacturing the hooch would be punished. Calling the incident "a sort of murder", he said he had spoken to the police commissioner and directed strict action.

"Eight people have been arrested in this case. More arrests are likely. Police have identified the place where the illegal hooch was manufactured. We will not spare anyone, as this is a very serious crime," Fadnavis said.

Officials said several unauthorised liquor sellers were operating in the Pimpri Chinchwad area. They alleged that the victims had consumed hooch at a premises linked to Yogesh Wankhede. The owner of the premises, Colonel Singh Virakha, has also been arrested.

"A case has been registered and the police are investigating the matter. Methanol is suspected to have been mixed in the liquor, which may have caused the deaths," a local official said.

Local NCP leader Yogesh Bahal demanded a high-level inquiry into the incident. He alleged that illicit and adulterated liquor was being sold openly with the connivance of police and local authorities.

"The hooch is being manufactured and sold under the nose of the police. Instead of taking action, they are part of the racket that has claimed 15 lives. We demand a high-level probe," he said.

However, police have not yet confirmed that all deaths were caused by hooch. Officials said factors like heat and health conditions are being examined.

"Eight people have been arrested in this case. More arrests are likely to take place. Police have identified the place where the illegal hooch was manufactured. We will not spare anyone, as this is a very serious crime," Maharashtra CM Devendra Fadnavis said.

'Ultimatum' to Manipur over kidnap of Nagas

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE All Naga Students Association, Manipur (ANSAM) on Friday set a four-day "ultimatum" before the state government to ascertain the status of six Naga civilians, including two pastors, allegedly abducted by Kuki individuals.

The organisation warned that failure to ascertain their status within this time would compel the Nagas to boycott the government and make an appeal to all Naga legislators supporting the government to withdraw their support in the larger interest and security of people from the community.

The student body demanded the arrest of all those involved in the recent killings of three Nagas—two in Ukhrul and one in Noney districts—and three Thadou church leaders in Kuki-dominated Kangpokpi district.

ANSAM further demanded the immediate abrogation of Centre's Suspension of Operations (SoO) agreement signed with myriad Kuki militant groups, alleging that the peace pact has become a licence to kill. The organisation criticised the state's home minister Govindas Konthoujam for his "blatant lies" on the May 7 alleged cross-border aggression by Kuki armed militants under SoO and Myanmar-based Peoples Defence Force.

Bengal truck driver dead, cop injured as violence erupts in Manipur again

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

A truck driver from West Bengal was killed on the spot and a police constable injured in an ambush by suspected militants in violence-hit Manipur's Ukhrul district on Friday.

"Unknown armed miscreants ambushed a goods vehicle proceeding towards Ukhrul along National Highway 202 between Leingangching and TM Kasom under Litan police station in Ukhrul district. The security forces retaliated. One driver sustained bullet injuries and succumbed. One police constable was injured," a senior government official said.

The slain driver, Nitish Das (65) from West Bengal's Hooghly district, was ferrying rice for the Food Corporation of India when the attack was perpetrated. The injured police constable was identified as Disingam Maringmei (34), a Naga, from Sangaiprou in Imphal West district. He sustained bullet injuries to his knee.

No group has so far claimed responsibility for the attack, carried out at around 11 am when paramilitary and police personnel were escorting trucks en route to Ukhrul from Imphal. Shortly before the incident, protestors from the Kuki community had blocked the Imphal-Ukhrul road at Shangkai to express their resentment against the May 13 killings of three Thadou church leaders and abduction of 14 Kuki civilians. After security personnel cleared the road using force, the trucks left for Ukhrul but came under the attack just 6 km away.

The Kuki CSO Working Committee, Ukhrul alleged that the peaceful protest at Shangkai was a legitimate cry for justice. "…the CRPF and Rapid Action (Force) personnel responded with excessive force against unarmed civilians, especially women. Reports from the ground confirm that security forces fired multiple rounds of tear gas directly at the residential area, assaulted protesters, and shot a woman in the head," the organisation alleged.

New govt starts drive against madrasas

Bihar education minister Mithilesh Tiwari is again in the news. This time for the department's move to launch a drive against unapproved and fraudulent madrasas across the state. The education department has mandated a comprehensive review of all such institutions. Any madrasa or Sanskrit school operating without valid recognition will be immediately shut down. He said that department will review the reports received from respective districts and issue an order for their closure. He, however, clarified that there would be no discrimination. He also asserted that both madarsas and Sankrit schools were being promoted by government.

Babus get worried after the arrest of conman

The arrest of a controversial contractor, Rishu Ranjan Sinha alias Rishu Shree, has come as a nightmare for several serving IAS officers of Bihar. Rishu Shree, known for his close links with IAS officers, was arrested by SVU under PMLA this week. On the run for nearly a year, he fell in the police dragnet this week. Many IAS officers are frightened as Rishu may reveal names of bureaucrats for whom he had arranged tours of foreign countries. The 39-year-old is suspected of having amassed crores of rupees through financial management of the wealth of IAS officers across the country and even in offshore havens.

Govt makes employees' tours mandatory

The state government's recent directive has created a flutter in the bureaucratic circles. The directive has made it mandatory for state government employees to undertake a mandatory two-day, two-night visit to state tourist destinations with their families once every three months and send feedback reports to the government. As per directive, the tours are preferably scheduled for Fridays and Saturdays. The family members of government employees are elated over this decision. But bachelors are in a fix. In a sarcastic attack on government, a young officer said, "The directive does not say anything about bachelors." Will they be allowed to avail the facility?"

Govt mulls expansion of BSF jurisdiction: Shah after visiting Sir Creek

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah said on Friday that the Centre is considering a possible expansion of the Border Security Force's (BSF) operational jurisdiction in the future.

"It is the 60th year of the BSF," he said. "No final decision has been taken yet, so it would not be appropriate to say more at this stage. But we are considering expanding into new areas," he added.

Shah was carrying out a strategic review of India's western frontier during his visit to the highly sensitive Harami Nala and Sir Creek region in Gujarat's Kutch district, where he assessed border preparedness, inspected advanced security infrastructure and directly interacted with BSF personnel guarding one of the country's toughest terrains.

The visit, packed with symbolism and security messaging, began with Shah inspecting operational arrangements along the international border before inaugurating the newly built Border Outpost G-7. He later interacted with BSF jawans stationed in the hostile marshlands of Harami Nala, an area long considered vulnerable.

From there, the home minister visited the control room at OP Tower 1170 and undertook a boat patrol through the creek region, giving him a close look at the operational challenges faced by security forces in the muddy and shifting landscape of Sir Creek. The tour concluded with a closed-door review meeting at the BSF Sector Headquarters in Bhuj, where Shah discussed border-related challenges with senior officials.

Addressing BSF personnel, Shah said, "Every visit to frontline posts reminds me of the sacrifices made by soldiers guarding India's borders under extreme conditions."

Visit carries symbolism

Amit Shah's visit, fully packed with symbolic security messaging, began with him inspecting operational arrangements along the international border before inaugurating the newly built Border Outpost G-7. The Home Minister later interacted with BSF jawans stationed in Harami Nala.

Role reversal: Once a judge, now accused in same court

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

GIRIBALA Singh—the 63-year-old retired judge and mother-in-law of Twisha Sharma who was the highest judicial authority of Bhopal as the district and sessions judge between July 2021 and February 2023—walked into the same court premises three years later on Friday, but this time as an accused in the CBI custody.

Giribala, along with her co-accused son Samarth Singh, was produced before a special court located on the top floor of the multi-storied Bhopal district and sessions court premises on Friday afternoon.

The premier investigation agency, which took over the probe in the case on state's government's recommendation on May 25, took the mother-son duo in custody in the court, as advocates across the court premises discussed with each other about the former Bhopal district judge, famous for her punctuality and strictness, being present in one of the court rooms as an accused in the high-profile case.

The CBI moved a detailed application in the court, seeking five-day custody of the mother-son duo to question them further, separately and then cross examine both of them across the table together. Accepting the CBI's application, the Bhopal court sent Giribala and Samarth into five days of CBI custody till 2 pm on June 2.

According to informed sources, the CBI has already conducted detailed and meticulous mapping of Twisha's matrimonial house in Bhopal, particularly the terrace where she was found hanging to death on May 12 night. Based on the critical evidence gatjered there, along with the 500-odd page case diary handed over to it by the SIT of Bhopal Police, which earlier probed the case, the premier investigation agency will now question the mother-son duo for five days.

A duration of 54 minutes on the night of May 12—spanning from 9.41 pm, the last time Twisha talked to her mother Rekharani Sharma via WhatsApp call, to 10.35 pm, when Giribala told Twisha's sister-in law Rashi Sharma that "She is no more"—could form the focal point of CBI's line of questioning in the days to come. Meanwhile, Samarth Singh has reportedly been reading feminist psychological thriller and literary mystery Butter in custody.

Twisha's husband reading feminist thriller in custody

Meanwhile, Samarth Singh has reportedly been reading feminist psychological thriller and literary mystery Butter in custody. The novel, authored by Asako Yuzuki, is a story inspired by a real-life murder case in Japan and follows a journalist who interviews a woman accused of tricking and possibly killing men by seducing them with her cooking.

CISF to train women for front-line security roles

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) has designated its 10th Reserve Battalion in Bengaluru as a dedicated Mahila Quick Reaction Team and Commando Training Centre to prepare women personnel for critical front-line security roles. The move is part of the force's wider push to strengthen operational preparedness and response capabilities amid evolving security threats.

The CISF has also launched a phased Counter-Drone Training Programme in collaboration with the Indian Army to tackle low-altitude aerial threats. Conducted at specialised locations, the programme equips personnel with advanced skills to detect, track and neutralise hostile unmanned aerial systems.

The initiatives were reviewed during an Operational Review Meeting chaired by CISF Director General Praveer Ranjan in Chandigarh to assess preparedness across the North Sector and Airport Sector. Senior officers and unit commanders discussed strengthening security arrangements, improving inter-agency coordination and adopting advanced technologies for protecting critical infrastructure and civil aviation installations.

Meet also reviews airport modernisation measures

The meeting also reviewed airport modernisation measures, including Digi Yatra, Aadhaar validation systems, CCTV video analytics, full-body scanners, perimeter intrusion detection systems, automated tray return systems and bomb detection and disposal systems.

The review focused on emerging threats, including drone-related challenges, anti-sabotage measures and disaster response preparedness. The meeting assumes significance in view of evolving security concerns in strategically sensitive regions.

The CISF is also strengthening airport Quick Reaction Teams across the country. So far, 659 personnel from 49 Aviation Security Groups have completed military-grade Battle Inoculation Training. The force aims to extend the training to QRT personnel at all 72 airports under CISF protection by the end of 2026.

Joint training initiatives with the Indian Army and other agencies in counter-terrorism operations, quick reaction response and disaster management were also reviewed. These include CI/CT training, QRT specialised training, Battle Inoculation Training and the Art of Living resilience programme for stress management among personnel in operational zones.

At present, the CISF has around 12,500 women personnel. A proposal to establish a CISF Aviation Security Academy for specialised research and training in aviation security is under consideration.

HEAVIER NEW GLENN CRASH

Blue Origin rocket explodes on launch pad during test

CAPE CANAVERAL

A rocket belonging to Jeff Bezos' Blue Origin exploded during a test at the launch pad Thursday night, shaking nearby homes and briefly painting the sky orange.

Blue Origin said its New Glenn rocket exploded during an engine-firing test being conducted ahead of a satellite launch planned for next week. No one was hurt, according to officials at Cape Canaveral Space Force Station.

"It's too early to know the root cause but we're already working to find it," Bezos said via X. "Very rough day, but we'll rebuild whatever needs rebuilding and get back to flying. It's worth it." The massive New Glenn was grounded in April after it left a satellite in the wrong orbit because of engine failure. It was only the third flight of the rocket that Blue Origin intends to use to launch landers to the moon for NASA, including the landers that will take astronauts to the lunar surface.

The company had been on track to launch a prototype lunar lander to the moon on a flight test this fall. Earlier this week, the space agency awarded Blue Origin a contract worth hundreds of millions of dollars to launch a pair of moon buggies in the next few years as part of the Artemis program.

"Spaceflight is unforgiving, and developing new heavy-lift launch capability is extraordinarily difficult," NASA Administrator Jared Isaacman said via X. He promised to provide information on any impacts to the Artemis program, including the moon base that he recently outlined.

Homes shook in nearby Cape Canaveral and Cocoa Beach around 9 pm, with residents turning to social media to wonder what happened. Launch Complex 36 is visible from the beach, and the internet quickly filled with photos of an orange fireball. AP

NO TRUST IN U.S. 'WORDS', WAITING FOR WASHINGTON TO ACT: TEHRAN

Vance claims progress on peace deal, waiting for Prez Trump to sign

WASHINGTON

IRAN top negotiator said Friday that Tehran would only trust Washington's actions, not its words, after US Vice President JD Vance said progress had been made on a deal to extend a ceasefire and provide a framework for peace talks.

President Donald Trump has remained notably silent about the deal despite US sources telling AFP it only needed his sign-off, underscoring the unpredictability of talks three months after the conflict engulfed West Asia and shook the global economy. "We place no trust in guarantees or words; only actions matter. No step will be taken before the other side acts first," Iran's Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf wrote on X. The parliament speaker, who led Tehran's delegation at peace talks with the US in Pakistan last month, also warned that Iran had gained leverage not "through talks, but through missiles" fired at US bases and allies in the region when war broke out on February 28.

Hopes of an agreement had risen on Thursday after US officials were positive about the direction of diplomacy. "It's hard to say exactly when or if the president is going to sign the MoU," Vance told reporters on Thursday. Optimism around a possible US-Iran deal boosted Asian stock markets on Friday, while oil prices receded slightly. Energy markets have whipsawed this week as investors parse the chances of an agreement that could potentially resume normal shipping through the crucial Strait of Hormuz.

The potential deal would end restrictions on shipping through the strait, with no tolls or harassment, while Tehran would remove mines within 30 days and the US would lift its naval blockade of Iranian ports if commercial traffic resumed, according to US media reports. But Iran has not confirmed any commitments to a deal, and sources have told Iranian media that any agreement unilaterally announced by Trump would not be recognised.

On Friday, Iran's Tasnim news agency, citing a source, said the text had not yet been finalised and the wording of the potential memorandum of understanding had "undergone some changes in recent days".

Pak FM Ishaq Dar meets Marco Rubio

Washington: Pakistan's Foreign Minister Ishaq Dar met US Secretary of State Marco Rubio here on Friday, amid reports of the US and Iran closing in on an agreement to end the three-month war. Dar's meeting with Rubio comes days after US President Donald Trump urged countries mediating the US-Iran talks to end the three-month war to join the Abraham Accords, which establish diplomatic, economic and security ties between Israel and Arab nations. Pakistan, which has emerged as a key mediator in the West Asia conflict, does not recognise the state of Israel and has no diplomatic relations with it. Dar, also the Deputy Prime Minister, was in New York at the invitation of Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi to attend the UN Security Council debate on 'Maintenance of International Peace and Security'. Trump meeting with aides on Iran deal

Washington: US President Donald Trump said Friday he's holding a White House Situation Room meeting with his advisors as he looks to make a "final determination" on moving forward with a deal to extend the Iran ceasefire. Trump confirmed the high-level White House talks the day after The Associated Press and other news outlets reported that US and Iranian negotiators had come to terms on a tentative agreement. The deal would extend the fragile ceasefire by 60 days as new talks are held on Iran's disputed nuclear programme. US Vice President JD Vance said Thursday that the sides continued to debate "a couple of language points". Among the first issues to be negotiated during the 60-day ceasefire would be what will happen to Iran's highly enriched uranium, said the official

Hormuz exposes China's Indian Ocean vulnerability, says report

SINGAPORE

CHINA'S maritime vulnerability begins at the Strait of Hormuz rather than the Strait of Malacca, creating a new arena of strategic competition in the Indian Ocean among Beijing, India, France and the US, according to a report by London-based International Institute of Strategic Studies.

WAR WATCH

The report says the Indian Ocean region is re-emerging as a key strategic theatre after decades of relative calm following the end of the Cold War.

The report, "Asia Pacific Regional Security Assessment", argues that China's dependence on energy supplies moving through the Indian Ocean has made the region increasingly important to Beijing's security calculations, while also exposing vulnerabilities that rival powers could seek to exploit during a conflict.

The study examines strategic competition around major maritime choke points linking the Middle East and Asia, with particular focus on the Strait of Hormuz and the Straits of Malacca and Singapore (SOMS), also known as the Malacca Strait, which carries a substantial share of global energy shipments.

According to the report, recent developments around Hormuz have highlighted the growing strategic importance of these sea lanes. The report challenges the widely discussed notion of China's "Malacca Dilemma", which focuses on the vulnerability of Chinese trade and energy flows through the Malacca Strait. While the narrow waterway remains critical, the report argues that China's actual vulnerability begins much further west because a significant portion of its imported energy passes through the Strait of Hormuz before entering the Indian Ocean and reaching East Asia.

Any disruption along these routes would affect not only China, but also other major Asian economies, including Japan, which relies heavily on energy imports transported through the Indian Ocean.

The report says China faces greater strategic challenges in the Indian Ocean than in waters closer to its coastline because it must operate alongside established regional actors such as India, France and the US -- all of which maintain significant military capabilities and partnerships across the region. PTI

Russian drone crashes in Romania, injures 2

KYIV

A Russian drone that was part of an overnight attack on Ukraine crashed into an apartment building in eastern Romania, injuring two people, Romanian authorities said Friday.

In response to the crash in the city of Galati, NATO member Romania asked the alliance for a faster transfer of anti-drone capabilities to its military, the foreign ministry said, calling the drone's flight a serious violation of international law.

Gen. Gheorghe Maxim, a stand-in commander for the Romanian armed forces' joint staff, said at a press conference Friday that the incident "is not an attack from Russia against Romania" but "Romanians should understand that Russia is a threat to the security of the countries in the area".

Ukrainian forces shot down 217 drones overnight on Friday, according to the country's Air Force. In total, Russia attacked with 232 drones and one ballistic missile. Hits were recorded in 14 areas, the Air Force said. The drone was tracked by radar in Romanian airspace and crashed onto the roof of a building in Galati, Romania's Defence Ministry said. The impact was followed by a fire. Two people suffered minor injuries.

INDIAN-AMERICAN TEEN WINS SCRIPPS SPELLING BEE

WASHINGTON

INDIAN-AMERICAN student Shrey Parikh, aged 14, from California, won the Scripps National Spelling Bee on Friday after correctly spelling 32 of 35 words in 90 seconds.

Parikh, an eighth-grade student from Day Creek Intermediate School, spelt 'Bromocriptine' correctly in the 90-second spell-off, beating seventh grader 12-year-old Ishaan Gupta of Frank R Conwell Middle School, Jersey City, New Jersey. Twelve-year-old Sarv Dharavane from Peachtree Charter Middle School in Tucker, Georgia, finished third. Ishaan takes home $25,000, while Sarv gets $15,000 in prize money.

Parikh also beat the previous spell-off record set in 2024 by Bruhat Soma, who spelled 29 out of 30 words correctly in the spell-off. "Spelling fast is what I do every day," Shrey said in comments after winning the competition.

Parikh, who was also a finalist in the 2024 edition of the competition, takes home a slew of prizes, including $50,000, a commemorative medal, the Scripps Cup, as well as $2,500 from Merriam-Webster, $1,000 in flight credits from Delta and $400 of reference works from Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The three-day competition began Monday at DAR Constitution Hall here with 247 contestants from all 50 states and the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico, the US Virgin Islands, Defence Department schools in Europe and five other countries: the Bahamas, Canada, Ghana, Nigeria and the United Arab Emirates.

Nine contestants advanced to the finals that were held on Thursday evening. Shrey and Ishaan each had 90 seconds to correctly spell as many words as they could, served from the same list. Shrey previously competed in 2022 and tied for 89th place, and in 2024 tied for third place.

The Spelling Bee competition was first held in 1925 to test spelling, vocabulary and language skills through multiple rounds of increasingly difficult words. Participants must generally be no older than 15 years and may not have progressed beyond the eighth grade.

Remains of 6 workers recovered in massive US chemical tank rupture

Longview: Crews have recovered the remains of six of nine workers who were missing after a massive chemical tank ruptured at a paper mill in Washington state, releasing a flood of caustic liquid capable of causing severe burns and lung injuries, officials said on Thursday. In all, 11 people were killed in the disaster, including the three yet to be recovered, and eight injured. It is one of the deadliest US workplace accidents in recent decades. A tank containing more than 1.9 million litres of a chemical mixture used to break down wood for making paper collapsed on Tuesday at the Nippon Dynawave Packaging Company in Longview.

US labels Brazil's 2 biggest drug gangs as terrorist organisations

Sao Paulo: The US State Department designated two Brazilian criminal groups as foreign terrorist organisations on Thursday. The two gangs -- First Command of the Capital, or PCC, and Red Command, or CV -- likely have more than 50,000 members combined, according to experts. Designating criminal cartels in Latin America as foreign terrorist organisations is a strategy that Trump's administration has used as it turns to military activity to combat drug trafficking.

Mkts fall 1.5% on MSCI rejig, monsoon forecast

Investors remain cautious as IMD forecasts below-normal monsoon

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity market witnessed a sudden dip during the closing hours of Friday's trading session with benchmarks BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty50 falling up to 1.50% as forecast of a lower monsoon, tension in West Asia and MSCI rebalancing spooked investors. The Sensex ended 1,092 points, or 1.44%, lower at 74,775.74, while its NSE counterpart Nifty settled at 23,547.75, down 359 points, or 1.50%.

According to analysts at Bajaj Broking, investor sentiment remained cautious following the IMD's monsoon forecast at 90% of the Long Period Average (LPA), while a rise in India VIX reflected heightened market volatility. The pressure intensified during the final hours of trade after the MSCI Global Standard Index rebalancing came into effect, triggering heightened volatility in select stocks amid expected passive fund flow adjustments and portfolio rebalancing activity.

The MSCI Global Standard Index rebalance taking effect on May 29 is expected to prompt sizable passive fund flows into Indian stocks. The update adds four companies, removes four others, and alters weightings with some large-cap firms seeing their allocations rise and others fall. Market participants are watching closely as global passive funds and ETFs that follow MSCI benchmarks reallocate holdings to match the revised index.

Siddhartha Khemka - head of research, wealth management, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said that lingering uncertainty surrounding the ongoing US-Iran negotiations and continued concerns over geopolitical stability in West Asia kept overall risk appetite subdued across both global and domestic markets.

He added that while global cues have turned relatively supportive, the India Meteorological Department's downward revision of the 2026 southwest monsoon forecast to 90% of the long period average from the earlier estimate of 92%, amid rising risks of weak El Nino conditions from June onward, could emerge as a key domestic overhang for rural and agriculture-linked sectors.

On the sectoral front, almost all sectors ended in the red, reflecting widespread profit booking and a risk-off sentiment. Major weakness was witnessed in Nifty Oil & Gas, Metal, Auto, and Healthcare stocks.

Bank frauds surge 46% in FY26

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

DESPITE a steep fall in the number of fraud cases to 10,114 from 23,722 a year ago, the amount involved in fraud cases reported by banks shot up 46% to ₹48,021 crore in FY26 from ₹32,803 crore, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said in its FY26 annual report.

Public sector banks accounted for the vast majority of frauds at ₹35,709 crore in FY26 as against ₹23,617 crore in the previous year. The share of their private sector peers stood at ₹11,399 crore, up from ₹8,927 crore, the RBI said.

The amount involved in frauds related to bank advances rose to ₹40,774 crore across 8,640 cases, compared with ₹30,367 crore across 7,924 cases in the previous year, the central bank said in its annual report released Friday.

The latest data include fraud classification in 314 cases amounting to ₹30,199 crore, pertaining to previous financial years, reported afresh during the current financial year after re-examination and ensuring compliance with the Supreme Court's March 27, 2023 judgment, the RBI said.

"Frauds reported in fiscal year 2026 could have occurred several years prior to the year of reporting," the RBI said Friday.

The amount involved in frauds related to cards and digital payments fell to ₹29 crore across 293 cases in FY26 as against ₹517 crore across 13,332 cases in FY25 and ₹1,452 crore across 28,836 cases in FY24.

"An assessment of bank group-wise fraud cases over the last three years indicates lthough the number of frauds for public and private sector banks has reduced, the amount involved has increased over the years," the report said.

While the number of frauds was highest under the card/internet/digital payments category in FY24 and FY25, the advances category accounted for the largest share in FY26. In value terms, frauds were concentrated in the advances category across all three years, the RBI said.

ANNUAL REPORT

Forex gains up 52% in FY26 as dollar sales rise

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

RBI net sold $53.13 bn
In FY26, the RBI net sold a record $53.13 bn in spot foreign exchange market to defend the rupee

THE Reserve Bank said gains from its foreign exchange interventions in the currency market jumped 52% to ₹1.69 lakh crore in FY26, as it net sold a record $53.13 billion to support rupee, which remained under intense pressure and depreciated 9.9%, making it the worst-performing Asian currency for the second consecutive year.

The RBI said gains from foreign exchange transactions rose to ₹1.69 lakh crore in FY26 from ₹1.11 lakh crore in the previous year, as the central bank stepped up interventions in the currency markets to shield the rupee. In FY26, the RBI net sold a record $53.13 billion in the spot foreign exchange market to defend the rupee. During the year, the central bank sold nearly $195 billion and bought around $142 billion, resulting in net sales of $53.13 billion.

Heaviest sell-offs occurred during late 2025 amid tariff concerns and foreign capital outflows
RBI report

This surpassed the $34.51 billion net sales recorded in FY25, when the rupee had depreciated 5.4%.

The heaviest sell-offs occurred during late 2025 amid tariff concerns and foreign capital outflows, with October recording the highest monthly net sale of $11.88 billion, followed by $10.02 billion in December.

The central bank books gains when it sells dollars from its reserves in the foreign exchange market to stabilise the rupee, depending on the exchange rate relative to the historical average price at which the RBI had accumulated those reserves.

RBI spends 24% less in printing notes

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

DESPITE the money in circulation jumping by about 12% in FY26 to ₹42.87 lakh crore, the RBI has spent nearly 24% less in printing charges, which came down to ₹4,875 crore from ₹6,379 crore in the year-ago period.

The RBI in its annual report for FY26 released on Friday attributed the 23.6% decline in note printing charges to the reduced indent for printing fresh banknotes.

The indent of banknotes was lower than the previous fiscal whereas the indent of coins for FY26 was higher than the previous year. The total indent and supply of banknotes stood at 2.81 lakh pieces, lower than 3.03 lakh pieces in FY25, the RBI said and attributed the same to the reduced demand for high-value notes, with the indent for ₹500 notes easing to 1.1 lakh pieces from 1.2 lakh pieces a year ago, while printing of ₹200 notes dropped to 15,000 pieces from 40,000 pieces. However, printing of ₹10 notes rose to 46,000 pieces from 18,000 pieces. Meanwhile, the RBI said the volume of ₹500 banknotes in circulation rose by 11.2% in FY26 as the money in circulation hit a record of ₹42.87 lakh crore, reinforcing their dominance in the nation's currency ecosystem.

20k MSME applications received under ECLGS

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

UNDER the government's Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS), nearly 20,000 applications from micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) have been received for disbursement of Rs 25,000 crore, a senior Finance Ministry official said.

"We received around 20,000 applications, all from MSMEs, till this morning, and processed required amount of ₹25,000 crore. The scheme has been received well," the official said, adding that no applications had been received from airlines so far. Under ECLGS 5.0, the government will provide 100% credit guarantee coverage for MSMEs and 90% coverage for non-MSMEs as well as the airline sector. Of ₹25,000 crore allocated under ECLGS 5.0, ₹5,000 crore has been specifically earmarked for airlines.

The scheme provides structured financial relief with a maximum loan limit of ₹1,000 crore per borrower, along with an additional ₹500 crore subject to equivalent equity infusion by the borrower. The loans will have a tenure of up to seven years, including a two-year moratorium on repayment, easing short-term liquidity pressures.

The Cabinet approved the scheme to address financial stress faced by airlines due to rise in aviation turbine fuel prices, compounded by airspace closures and reduced operations, mainly on international routes, which have led to lower aircraft utilisation and liquidity constraints.

ENERGY SECURITY

DIESEL-ISOBUTANOL BLENDING FROM '26

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA is set to introduce a mandate for blending isobutanol with diesel later this year, Road Transport and Highways Secretary V Umashankar said on Friday.

Speaking at the CII Multimodal Transportation and Logistics Summit in New Delhi, the secretary said the move is aimed at improving energy security and decarbonising the road transport sector. He mentioned that the government is examining diesel blending, as diesel consumption in the country is nearly double that of petrol, making its impact on energy security significantly larger.

"Blending of diesel has been looked into with seriousness. Bharat Petroleum is undertaking strategic research for iso-butanol blending with diesel. And the results are very encouraging," he said. He added, "It is likely that the blending mandate will start coming in somewhere later this year. And diesel consumption is almost two times that of petrol consumption". The MoRTH is also planning to issue a draft notification on truck-trailers soon to support the development of infrastructure for electric heavy commercial vehicles.

RBI balance sheet grows 21% in FY26

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE balance sheet of the Reserve Bank has expanded by robust 20.6% in FY26, with the total assets rising by ₹15.72 trillion to ₹91.97 trillion as of March 2026, helping it make a record payout to the government to the tune of ₹2.86 trillion, and the gold holding soaring by 63.8% to 880.5 tonne.

The sharp increase in the balance sheet was primarily driven by a rise in domestic investments, which rose by 44.9%, gold holdings rose the most by 63.8% and foreign investments surged 7.9%, the RBI said in its annual report for FY26 released on Friday.

Last Friday, the central board of the monetary authority had finalised the annual report when it had also announced a record ₹2.865 lakh crore or 6.5% of the balance sheet in surplus transfer to the government, while also transferring ₹1.09 trillion to the contingency fund during the year. On the record transfer of ₹2,86,588.46 crore to the government by way of surplus for the accounting year 2025-26, the RBI said this was 7% more than what was paid out in the previous year when it paid ₹2.68 lakh crore and is marginally higher than the government's budgeted ₹2.7 lakh crore for the year.

On the liabilities side, revaluation accounts recorded the steepest rise of 63.4% during the year under review, the central bank said, adding that banknotes issued increased 11.8%, while deposits and other liabilities rose 11.6% and 21.1%, respectively.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INFOSYS plans to use productivity gains from AI to expand its business rather than reducing workforce, chairman Nandan Nilekani said as IT services industry continues to grapple with AI's impact on jobs.

In his message to shareholders in the firm's annual report for 2025-26, Nilekani said Infosys would focus on preparing employees for AI era and redeploying workers whose productivity improves with AI tools.

JAPAN

SPENT $73 BN IN YEN-BUYING INTERVENTION

Japanese authorities spent 11.7 trillion yen ($73.5 billion) intervening in foreign exchange markets over the past month to support the yen, but with only limited effect as the currency hovers near the same levels that prompted Tokyo to act. Ministry of Finance data released on Friday confirmed traders' suspicions that officials entered the market at the turn of the month, likely on multiple occasions during Japan's Golden Week holidays, when market liquidity was thin. Tokyo acted as the yen dropped past 160 per dollar , the same level that triggered record dollar-selling intervention in 2024. On April 30 this year, the yen surged from as weak as 160.725 - a nearly two-year low - to as strong as 155.50. It extended gains to around 155 by May 6, but later resumed its decline, weakening to about 159.65 on Thursday.

THAILAND

POSTS RECORD-HIGH CURRENT ACCOUNT DEFICIT IN APRIL

Thailand posted a record-high current account deficit of $7.6 billion in April, with economic growth slowing from the previous month from the impacts of the Middle East war and expected to get weaker, the Bank of Thailand said on Friday. The record-high deficit was not a worry yet and should be temporary, Assistant Governor Chayawadee Chai-anant said, adding the Iran war was expected to end in the middle of the year. The baht will remain volatile, reflecting uncertainty, Ms Chayawadee told a briefing. In April, tourist arrivals and spending weakened and private consumption fell as a result of lower spending on consumer goods and fuel, with higher energy prices raising the cost of living, the central bank said in a statement.

SOUTH KOREA

HOLDS RATES, REVEALS HAWKISH SPLIT WITHIN BOARD

The Bank of Korea kept its benchmark interest rate unchanged on Thursday, while a hawkish split within its seven-member board signaled an imminent turn toward a more restrictive policy stance to curb inflation and support a slumping won. Five of the seven members on the central bank's monetary policy board voted to keep its benchmark interest rate unchanged at 2.50%, while two dissenters voted for a hike. The two outliers forecast a rate rise. The meeting also marked the policy debut of new central bank governor Shin Hyun Song. The central bank revised up this year's inflation estimate to 2.7% from the 2.2% projected before the Iran war started, factoring in the spillovers from rising oil prices. It raised this year's growth forecast to 2.6% from 2.0% previously, reflecting the robust first-quarter expansion of 1.7%, the fastest in nearly six years.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HIT by a declining rupee amid a challenging external environment, InterGlobe Aviation, the parent of IndiGo airline, reported a net loss of ₹2,536 crore for the quarter ending March 31, 2026 (Q4FY26). It had reported a net profit of ₹3,067 crore in the year-ago quarter (Q4FY25).

Revenue from operations grew by just 1% year-on-year to ₹22,438 crore during the reported quarter while total cost grew by 30% to ₹25,932 crore. Passenger ticket revenues declined marginally to ₹19,425 crore.

ROUGH RIDE

1. Operating revenue grew 1% YoY to ₹22,438 cr
2. Total cost grew by 30% to ₹25,932 cr
3. Passenger ticket revenue fell to ₹19,425 crore

Excluding the impact of foreign exchange and exceptional items, it reported a net profit of ₹1,921 crore in Q4FY26. A declining rupee impacts airlines in India by inflating operational costs, triggering forex losses and squeezing profit margins as about 60% of their expenses, including aviation turbine fuel, aircraft leasing and maintenance are dollar-denominated.

At 95 per dollar, rupee has declined over 5% so far in calendar year 2026. In the last one year, the decline is nearly 10%. For FY26, IndiGo posted a loss of ₹2,393 crore. The airline had reported a profit of ₹7,258 crore in FY2024-25. Revenue from operations for the full year grew by 5% to ₹84,962 crore.

On operational metrics, Indigo's capacity increased by 3.4% to 43.6 billion Available Seat Kilometres (ASKs) in Q4FY26. Passenger volume declined by 1.1% to 31.6 million during the quarter while Yield decreased by 2.2% to ₹5.20 (INR/KM).

PSBs record ₹1.98 lakh crore profit in FY26

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

PUBLIC sector banks (PSBs) posted their highest-ever annual net profit of nearly ₹1.98 lakh crore in 2025-26, backed by improved asset quality and stronger balance sheets.

As per the data released by finance ministry on Friday, the aggregate business of PSBs touched ₹283.3 lakh crore as of March 31, 2026. Gross non-performing assets fell to 1.93%, while net non-performing assets (NNPA) declined to 0.39%.

"The discussions underscored need for PSBs to adopt prudent expenditure and austerity measures at all levels while maintaining resilience amid evolving global uncertainties. Banks were advised to provide need-based support to eligible borrowers under ECLGS 5.0, strengthen grievance redressal mechanisms," the statement said.

Suruchi captures gold, Esha wins silver

It was double delight for India on Day 4 of the ISSF World Cup in Munich, as Suruchi Inder Singh struck gold while Esha Singh bagged silver in the women's 10m air pistol. Suruchi shot 242.1 to defend the gold she won last year at the Olympic Shooting range, while her senior teammate shot 241.2 to settle for silver. Korean Choo Gaeun won bronze.

Vaibhav hit again but Shubman steals show

Sooryavanshi cracks sensational 96, but Gill ton takes GT to final

GOMESH S @ Chennai

GT skipper Shubman Gill celebrates his century against RR on Friday | BCCI

MOMENTS after Vaibhav Sooryavanshi fell for 96 from 47 balls in the 18th over, the teenager was sitting in the dugout before Rajasthan Royals skipper Riyan Parag came up to him. The captain was seemingly having a serious conversation with the 15-year-old who had just delivered again on one of the biggest stages.

However, the intense conversation, it seemed, wasnt just about the missed century - Sooryavanshi had missed out on the fastest hundred in the eliminator against Sunrisers Hyderabad two days ago when he fell for 97 - but something more. This innings, against Gujarat Titans in the Qualifier 2, however, was more impactful. And somewhere, they might have felt a few more runs were left in the middle for the taking. RR, when Sooryavanshi fell, were 172/6 in 17.2 overs. Though Donovan Ferreira (38 n.o) took Rashid Khan for 27 runs, helping RR finish with 214/6, Sooryavanshi getting out with 16 balls left could have been the difference between 214 and, perhaps, a 235. And that cost RR with both Shubman Gill and B Sai Sudharsan keeping GT on course. Gill smashed a sensational century (104) as GT raced to 182/2 in 15 overs. Sai Sudharsan hit another fifty before getting hit wicket once again when the bat slipped and fell onto the stumps. Despite the brief nerves, Jos Buttler and Rahul Tewatia took them into the finals where the will play Royal Challengers Bengaluru in Ahmedabad on Sunday.

That, however, does not take anything away from the sensational 96 of Sooryavanshi. It is arguably his best innings by far in his nascent IPL career. Unlike his usual gung-ho innings, where he smashes everything and everyone who came his way, the 15-year-old had to hold the innings together while doing a calculative assault.

And with good reason. GT, with their quality pace attack that features four Test pacers, rattled RR early on, reducing them to 9/2. Ravindra Jadeja (45 n.o) was promoted and he did well to play the rescue act, taking pressure of Sooryavanshi. For a change, the teenager played second fiddle, holding the innings together. He, and RR, knew that if he stayed for 20 overs, he would do enough damage anyway. So much so that when Sooryavanshi reached his fifty in 31 balls, it was his slowest in the IPL. He had to slow down knowing full well Jadeja was retired hurt, and that led to an opening where RR were reduced to 118/5 in 12.4 overs. Then came the carnage. Kagiso Rabada, Mohammed Siraj and Jason Holder were sent to the stands in three consecutive overs despite the teenager getting hit on the helmet. One of the sixes off Holder, played like a tennis serve, landed over long-off.

Desperate for a breakthrough, Gill — who was already irked that the toss he won had to be redone because the match referee did not hear Parag's call — turned to Washington Sundar and he was not spared either. From a 31-ball fifty, Sooryavanshi raced to 96 off 46 balls, taking 46 runs off four Test bowlers. And he did so despite the targeted bouncer barrage at his head — a potential weakness to exploit for a 15-year-old batting prodigy — from all four pacers. Eventually, it did work as he got out exactly the same way as he did against SRH, slicing Rabada to third-man. For all the subplots that has unfolded this season, Sooryavanshi has been the protagonist of IPL 2026. And even if his 96, which perhaps will be compared to many of Sachin Tendulkar's 90s, goes down in vain, Sooryavanshi emerges as the star not just of the season but the year. And he is here to stay. Brief scores: RR 214/6 in 20 ovs (Vaibhav 96, Jadeja 45 n.o, Ferreira 38 n.o; Holder 2/27) lost to GT 219/3 in 18.4 ovs (Gill 104, Sai Sudharsan 58).

After controversy, Vinesh set for trials

FIROZ MIRZA @ New Delhi

A DAY before the much-anticipated wrestling selection trials for women to pick the national team for the 2026 Asian Games, the Indira Gandhi Stadium in the national capital wore a deserted look on Friday. The women wrestlers, who have been camping here for the past few months, were in their hostel rooms instead of the training arena in the evening. Maybe they preferred to rest ahead of the high-intensity bouts.

But that was not the only reason as their coaches and support staff were busy with preparations and draw of lots for the competition where more than 125 wrestlers are scheduled to compete to stake their claims in the national team comprising six wrestlers — one each in six weight categories (50kg, 53kg, 57kg, 62kg, 68kg and 76kg).

Given the situation, the action shifted to the office of Wrestling Federation of India where the entries were being scanned and groups were being made on the basis of weight categories of the qualified wrestlers. While the weight categories of almost all the wrestlers were decided by evening, the WFI officials were scratching their heads over the division wherein one of the most decorated women wrestlers Vinesh Phogat will compete after the Supreme Court on Friday allowed her. "So far, we have not been intimated by either Vinesh or anyone else as far as her weight category is concerned," a WFI official told this daily. Interestingly, Vinesh's lawyer told a division bench of the Delhi High Court that she would want compete in the 53kg weight category but neither the order of the High Court nor the instructions of the Supreme Court specified it. What made the situation tricky for the WFI was Vinesh's registration for the Senior Open Ranking Tournament, which was held in Gonda, Uttar Pradesh earlier this month. While registering online, Vinesh specified 57kg as her weight category.

However, it is learnt that Vinesh is expected to compete in 53kg. As reported by this newspaper, if she competes in 53kg, her main opponents will be Antim Pangal, Meenakshi and Muskan. Nishu and Hansika Lamba who won medals in U23 in 55kg may drop to 53kg and could be tough opponents as well. Vinesh's team is expected to not take any chance for the trials. "We are awaiting an official communication from Vinesh. So far, we haven't received anything yet. We will wait but cannot do it for the whole night as the draws have to be made. The weigh-in starts at 7AM in the morning and the bouts begin two hours later. So the draws have to be made as soon as possible and communicated to the coaches to keep their wards ready for the competition," added the WFI official.

Vinesh last participated in a competitive event almost two years ago at the 2024 Paris Olympics. The Haryana wrestler was only a win away from a historic gold when she returned overweight ahead of her final bout in the 50kg weight category.

WFI requests police cover

Meanwhile, the WFI has also written a letter to IP Estate, Mahatma Gandhi Marg, Police Station to deploy adequate police personnel during the trials. "A large number of eminent wrestlers and officials are expected to participate in the event. In view of the above, we kindly request you to depute adequate police personnel," the letter read.

Carlsen prevails over Gukesh in Rd 4

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Oslo

THE last few hours of D Gukesh's teens were spent in various ways. First, they were spent trying to force an opening against Magnus Carlsen with the white pieces at Norway Chess. He had a solid opening but he had to find precise moves to convert it. Once he failed to convert a miniscule advantage into a winning one, he had to back off.

But Gukesh didn't back off. He never backs off on the chess board as he loves the scent of a fight. But you come at the king, you best not miss. When the Indian world champion missed, Carlsen ever so slightly improved his position before driving a truck through the hole the 20-year-old had left of his own volition. In the ensuing endgame, the Norwegian had the time as well as the synchronised pieces to pick up his first Classical win of the tournament just before the first rest day.

But there was going to be no table bang on the occasion of the infamous scene from the 2025 edition. If anything, as soon as Gukesh resigned in a hopelessly lost position, something else transpired. Both players were happy to debrief the game for a few minutes while remaining seated. While it's common for the men to do this, Gukesh and Carlsen's post-game interactions have generally been fleeting at best. On Thursday night, they genuinely were going through some of the lines. While a happy and smiling Carlsen was happy to oblige the TV media as well as post for photos, the Indian left the playing hall like a racewalker at the Olympics. Even as the media was listening to Carlsen, Gukesh took the route where the media presence was minimal.

Even as he was leaving the building, the World No. 1 succinctly summed up the game. "He sometimes plays too ambitiously and I think he did that (today)," he said. "He kind of wanted to prove serious advantage and I'm not sure there was. And, eventually, he played himself into some trouble. I took over more and more. Right at the end, I was a little bit worried because I'm allowing him to take a knight with check and I'm thinking this happened against Pragg (R Praggnanandhaa) yesterday (Wednesday), this happened against Gukesh last year... am I actually missing something? (But) if I was, he didn't find it." Standings (after four rounds): Open Alireza Firouzja 8.5, R Praggnanandhaa 6, Wesley so 5.5, Magnus Carlsen 4.5, Vincent Keymer 4, D Gukesh 3.5; Women Bibisara Assaubayeva 7, Anna Muzychuk, Zhu Jiner and Divya Deshmukh 5.5, Ju Wenjun 4, Koneru Humpy 3.

Fonseca knocks out Djokovic, Swiatek in last 16

AGENCIES @ Paris

NOVAK Djokovic was knocked out by Brazilian teenager Joao Fonseca in the third round of the French Open on Friday.

Djokovic, who was chasing a record 25th Grand Slam title going into the contest, was pushed to the limits by Fonseca. Despite going two sets behind, the 19-year-old fought back to push the contest to five sets before he eventually sealed the deal (4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5, 7-5 in Fonseca's favour).

In women's singles, Iga Swiatek booked her place in the last 16. Swiatek beat Magda Linette 6-4, 6-4 to begin play on Court Philippe Chatrier, with temperatures set to climb to 35 degrees Celsius later in the day. Swiatek dug herself out of an early 2-0 hole against the 35th-ranked Linette. Swiatek broke three times in the opening set to nose ahead, and then surged into a 4-1 lead in the second set. She overcame a stumble as she tried to close it out, before sealing victory to set up an intriguing match-up with the in-form Marta Kostyuk. Select results (Rd 3): Men: Rublev (RUS x11) bt Borges (POR) 7-5, 7-6 (2), 7-6 (2). Women: Kostyuk (UKR x15) bt Golubic (SUI) 6-4, 6-3; Swiatek (POL x3) bt Linette (POL) 6-4, 6-4; Andreeva (RUS x8) bt Bouzkova (CZE x27) 6-4, 6-2; Teichmann (SUI) bt Muchova (CZE x10) 6-1, 7-5.

Rishabh resigns as LSG skipper, more to follow?

ENS @ Chennai

EVEN before the ongoing Indian Premier League season has come to an end, the casualties of the poor show are already here. On Friday, Lucknow Super Giants announced that Rishabh Pant has stepped down as skipper after a season to forget.

The highest paid player in the league, who lost his place in the ODI set-up earlier this month, finished with 312 runs this year, but his team is placed at the bottom of the table. "Rishabh approached the franchisee with this request and we have respectfully accepted it," LSG director of cricket Tom Moody was quoted as saying in the official media release by the franchise.

Rishabh Pant

However, the interesting aspect of it is that Pant may not be the only one. Hardik Pandya's time as Mumbai Indians captain — potentially as a player too? — could be coming to an end as well. While there is no official communication yet, there were plenty of murmurs involving the all-rounder and the mood reflected the same, especially during the last game of the franchise in Mumbai. Long after the contest was over, videos of Pandya standing at the entrance of the dressing room at Wankhede could be seen, soaking it all in. He removed his jersey and tossed it into the stands before walking into the room. In his three years as captain, MI made the top four once and there have been multiple reports about the mood in the camp. Even Mahela Jayawardene was non-committal about Pandya continuing as captain. It remains to be seen whether he is just being replaced as skipper or also as player.

There is also a big possibility that Axar Patel too could be replaced as Delhi Capitals skipper. After another season where they did not qualify, DC may look at leadership change, especially with the management change on the horizon. Will that happen? Who will take over? Is there anyone else who will lose their job? Time will tell.

BATTLE FOR EURO GLORY

Arsenal seek to finally conquer Europe by wresting the Champions League crown from holders PSG, who are themselves targeting back-to-back titles in Budapest on Saturday. A look...

THRILLING ATTACK VS DISCIPLINE

Ballon d'Or winner Ousmane Dembele, likely to be fit after a calf problem, Khvicha Kvaratskhelia and Desire Doue lead a thrilling attacking cast for a PSG side that edged Bayern Munich 6-5 in the semis. Beyond the class of winger Bukayo Saka, Arsenal stand out more for their grit and defensive discipline, with centre-back pairing Gabriel and William Saliba their regular stand-out performers, as well as midfield powerhouse Declan Rice.

HUNGRY ARSENAL

After their first Premier League title in 22 years and a return to Europe's grandest stage after two decades (their last & only appearance was their 2006 vs Barcelona in Paris), Arsenal will be gunning to give it all. Mikel Arteta's will embrace the underdog role, keeping the champions at bay and leaning on their superior set-piece quality.

44 PSG are the tournament's top scorers with 44 goals, while Arsenal are the team that has conceded fewest, shipping just six and are unbeaten.

7 Paris and Arsenal have met seven times in UEFA competition, with two wins each and three draws.

2 PSG are aiming to become the only side in the modern Champions League era to win the competition back-to-back, besides record 15-time winners Real Madrid.

7 Arteta's side are bidding to become the seventh English club to lift the European Cup/Champions League.

Tears of joy for record-breaker Pooja

CHANDRA PRABHU @ Chennai

AT the medal ceremony for the women's high jump on Friday at the ongoing Asian U20 Athletics championships, Pooja couldn't hold back her tears as the Indian national anthem played.

Those tears, however, started flowing right as the 19-year-old jumped above the high-jump bar. With that jump of 1.93m, Pooja brought to life her dream of breaching the national record set by Sahana Kumari, which had stood for 14 years. As she landed on the high-jump bed, she tried to celebrate by running, but fell down to cover her face as tears of joy started flowing.

To witness this all was Kumari herself, the high jump coach for the Indian contingent. "I didn't know the record stood for 14 years!" she told this daily. It was a trip down memory lane for Kumari. "Seeing her cry, I also began tearing up because only I know how it feels when you jump like that. I was thinking about how I felt when I did my national record jump," she added.

AGECNIES @ Singapore

INDIA'S PV Sindhu went down against World No 1 An Se Young in the quarterfinals but men's doubles pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty moved into the semifinals with a hard-fought win at the Singapore Open here on Friday.

Can Messi deliver again for Argentina at his final World Cup?

ANDY SCOTT

LIONEL Messi will turn 39 during the upcoming World Cup and could have been forgiven for quitting international football after leading Argentina to glory in Qatar in 2022, but he remains his country's talisman as they aim to retain the trophy in North America.

The Barcelona legend somehow found another level three and a half years ago as he scored seven goals and set up three more in seven games, including a brace in the epic final in Doha against France — when he also converted his penalty in the shoot-out which gave Argentina the trophy.

"Obviously I wanted to finish my career with this. I can't ask for any more," Messi said after that triumph, which seemed to mark the completion of his glorious career.

But he did admit he would like to play on a little longer as a world champion, and in the end he kept going all the way to this year's tournament. It will be a record sixth World Cup for Messi, and the decision to delay his retirement will have been a relief for coach Lionel Scaloni. There is no need, yet, to try to somehow find a replacement for arguably the greatest player of all time. "There can't be. There won't be. There won't be an heir to Messi, for sure," Scaloni said in an interview with Flashscore in September.

Lionel Messi is just two games away from 200 Argentina caps | AP

Messi is obviously not the player he once was. He is no longer playing at the very highest level on a weekly basis — indeed, Messi has not played in a UEFA Champions League knockout tie victory since 2020. However, he is in fine form in Major League Soccer for Inter Miami, for whom he has 13 goals in 2026 after helping them win the MLS Cup last year. AFP

Events happening in city this weekend

Harsimrat Kaur, techie

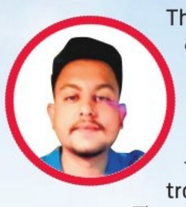
The powerful knocks from our captain in the qualifier were great to watch. The team performed brilliantly overall and the feeling when they made it to the final is honestly hard to put into words. As a fan, I've been waiting and dreaming of this moment since childhood. I just want to be there live, witness it. Hopefully, we will see the trophy in red and gold once again.

SRUTHI HEMACHANDRAN, MAHIMA NAGARAJU & ANJALI RAM

RED and gold jerseys are being pulled out of wardrobes, banners are being painted across living rooms and flights to Ahmedabad are filling up fast. After a season packed with emotion and dramatic moments, RCB is headed to the IPL final once again, this time for a Sunday showdown at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad.

Now, as the final battle approaches, fans from the city are once again packing their bags and making the journey to Ahmedabad. From customised jerseys and lucky scarves to giant 'Ee Sala' banners rolled into suitcases, every fan is carrying a piece of Bengaluru with them.

Vikas Jain, industrialist



The emotions are running high, and all I'm thinking about is seeing the team lift the trophy 2nd time. There's nervousness too, but mostly hope and passion. I'm travelling with our fan club called NammaTeamRCB. We've supported the team through every season, heartbreaks and comebacks. Seeing them win would feel personal. We are carrying our huge RCB banners, flags to support the team and pass on our energy to the players.

Nikita Kattar, fashion designer

I didn't want to just watch the final on TV, I wanted to be there and witness the magic live. I'm travelling with my entire family. They've always supported my passion for RCB, and experiencing this together makes it even more special. For RCB fans, it's been a roller-coaster ride. We've backed this team through every high and low for all these years. Now, watching them play like invincibles in the playoffs has fans on cloud nine. There's a real sense of belief and unity in the fan community right now. I have a Ganesh ji idol dressed in an RCB jersey. I pray before every match. It's been very lucky for the team and for me as a fan.

Rashi Sarangmutt, software engineer

Compared to last year, this season has felt more intense and rewarding as a fan, watching the team overcome challenges and perform with such determination. Experiencing the final in person allows me to be part of that energy and atmosphere firsthand. It's not just about watching a match, it's about witnessing a memorable moment in the team's journey alongside thousands of passionate supporters. I've travelled for IPL matches before, and I think the experience goes beyond the game itself.

Govind Naidu, advocate

I'm excited but a bit nervous watching the batting units of other teams click into high gear at the end of the tournament. I had the privilege of watching the RCB men's team win last year and couldn't pass up the chance to watch a repeat! I'll be travelling with friends, who were there last year as well. Being a supporter of a team that has come close many times before, it would be uplifting to watch them win. Of course, it's not achieving world peace or anything on that scale, but it does feel very good indeed!

Mayur M Bharadwaj, engineer

This time, there is a golden opportunity to win back-to-back titles after Mo Bobat (RCB director of cricket) mentioned it in the dressing room after winning the trophy last year, and I'm hopeful that it will happen. Right now, I'm only thinking about RCB lifting their second trophy and nothing else!

A ROYAL BAT-TLEFIELD

With RCB storming into the IPL final, fans from B'luru are making their way to Ahmedabad, to cheer the team and witness their best men bring the trophy home!

Saravana Prabhu, advocate

I watched the very first IPL match on April 18, 2008, and since then, I have stood by the team through every high and low. Travelling all the way to Ahmedabad never felt like a difficult decision. We simply had to be there for our team during one of their biggest moments. We have prepared Kannada chants to cheer for the team from the stands.

S Manoj Duggar, businessman

I spent around ₹10,000 for the one-way ticket. I'm going alone, but will join a few business associates there. RCB won't lose, but even if the 2016 scenario repeats, I'll be happy that I got to see the match. Those negative thoughts won't effect the excitement of fans.

Nikhil Naik, entrepreneur

Last year, I missed the opportunity to watch the finals live in the stadium, and I regretted it a lot. That is one of the biggest reasons I decided not to miss this year's final. I had to make travel arrangements quickly after the qualifiers. One issue I would like to highlight is how flight ticket prices and hotel fares increased massively as soon as RCB qualified for the finals. Many struggled as prices went high within hours. I feel there should be some form of fare regulation or price cap during major sporting events.

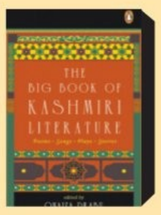
BOOK NOOK

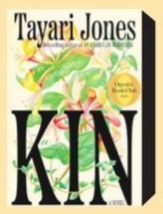
Once Elephants Lived Here
by Geetanjali Shree, Daisy Rockwell

The eleven stories cover a wide variety of themes, but what they all have in common is the stylistic experimentalism which came to blossom fully in Tomb of Sand. There is an iconoclasm to the author's writing, especially beginning with this collection.



The Big Book of Kashmiri Literature
by Onaiza Drabu

An anthology translated from the Kashmiri language, it's the first of its kind. It is as much an introduction into the literary landscape of Kashmir as a journey through its history. From pre-modern verse to radio plays, folk chants to metaphysical ghazals, the book is a compilation of memory and voices.



Kin
by Tayari Jones

A novel about mothers and daughters, friendship and sisterhood, and the complexities of being a woman in the American South. The book is an exuberant, emotionally rich and unforgettable work from the author.

A Case Of Exploding Mangoes
by Mohammed Hanif

Intrigue and subterfuge combine with bad luck in this comic debut about love, betrayal and a conspiracy trying to happen.

FITBIT

BLACK COFFEE: BENEFITS, NUTRITION AND SIDE EFFECTS

For many people, black coffee is often the first step towards feeling energised, focused and ready for the day ahead. When consumed in moderation, black coffee can offer several health and fitness benefits. However, like most things, the key lies in using it wisely.

A LOW-CALORIE BEVERAGE WITH HIGH UTILITY: One of the biggest advantages of black coffee is that it contains almost no calories when consumed without sugar, milk, cream or flavoured syrups. This makes it a healthier alternative to sugary beverages and fancy coffee drinks that can quickly add hundreds of calories to your day.

HELPS IMPROVE FOCUS AND ALERTNESS: The caffeine in coffee stimulates the central nervous system, helping improve concentration, alertness and reaction time. This is why many people turn to coffee before important meetings, long workdays or mentally demanding tasks.

CAN BOOST EXERCISE PERFORMANCE: Black coffee is also a popular pre-workout drink. Moderate caffeine intake may help improve stamina, endurance and overall workout performance by increasing energy levels and reducing the perception of fatigue during exercise.

RICH IN ANTIOXIDANTS: Coffee contains naturally occurring antioxidants that help combat oxidative stress in the body. For many adults, coffee contributes significantly to their daily antioxidant intake, supporting overall health and cellular function.

SUPPORTS METABOLISM: Caffeine may temporarily increase metabolic activity and enhance fat utilisation during exercise. While coffee is not a shortcut to weight loss, it can complement a balanced diet and regular fitness routine.

POTENTIAL SIDE EFFECTS TO WATCH FOR:

While coffee offers benefits, excessive consumption can lead to:

- Anxiety and restlessness
- Poor sleep quality
- Increased heart rate
- Digestive discomfort
- Jitters and nervousness

Individual tolerance levels vary, but most healthy adults can safely consume around two to three cups a day.

WHY TIMING MATTERS

The timing of your coffee intake is often just as important as the quantity. Consuming caffeine too late in the day can interfere with sleep quality and recovery. Ideally, avoid coffee six to eight hours before bedtime.

DON'T USE COFFEE AS A MEAL REPLACEMENT

Coffee can temporarily suppress appetite, but it should never replace a balanced meal. Relying on coffee instead of proper nutrition may lead to energy crashes and poor dietary habits later in the day.

Mango Ravioli with Creamy Paneer Filling & Mango Sauce by Rishita Taluri, Delhi NCR (IG: @rishita.thalluri)

Ingredients

- Mangoes: 1-2, ripe but firm
- Cream cheese: 3 tbsp
- Paneer: 50 g
- Mint: 1 tbsp (chopped)
- Honey/sweetener: to taste
- Few saffron strands
- Milk: 2-4 tbsp

Method

Using a mandoline, slice the mangoes into very thin strips. In a bowl, combine cream cheese, paneer, chopped mint and a little honey/sweetener. Knead until smooth, soft and fluffy. Layer overlapping mango slices to create a sheet. Add a spoonful of filling in the centre, cover with another layer of mango slices, gently seal and cut into neat disc-shaped 'ravioli'. Blend ripe mango, milk and a little honey/sweetener until smooth and silky to make the sauce. Spread the mango sauce onto a plate, place the mango ravioli on top and garnish with a drizzle of honey, mint leaves and saffron strands. Serve chilled.

Mango (ripe, chopped): 1 • Jackfruit (chopped): 1 cup • Bananas (ripe): 2 • Javvarisi (sago): 1/4 cup • Milk: 500 ml • Jaggery syrup: 1/2 cup • Ghee: 2 tbsps • Cashews: 10 • Raisins: 10 • Cardamom powder: 1 tsp • A few saffron strands (optional)

Method

Wash and cook the javvarisi (sago) until transparent. Keep aside. Heat ghee in a pan and roast cashews and raisins until golden brown. Blend mango, jackfruit and bananas into a smooth pureé. Boil milk in a thick-bottomed pan and simmer for a few minutes. Add cooked javvarisi and jaggery syrup to the milk and mix well. Slowly add the fruit pureé while stirring continuously on a low flame. Add cardamom powder and saffron strands for flavour. Cook for 3 to 5 minutes on a low flame without over-boiling. Garnish with roasted cashews and raisins. Serve warm or chilled.

Mango Coconut Pancakes by Somya Giri (IG: @som.eats)

Ingredients

All-purpose flour: 1 cup • Baking powder: 1 tsp • Salt: 1/4 tsp • Sugar: 1 to 2 tbsp • Egg: 1 • Milk: 3/4 cup (reduce slightly if using mango purée) • Yoghurt: 1 tbsp • Melted butter: 2 tbsp, plus extra for cooking • Vanilla essence: 1/2 tsp • Unsweetened desiccated coconut: 1/3 cup • Mango: 1/2, chopped or blended into a purée • Honey, whipped cream, chopped walnuts and extra mango for topping

Method

Lightly toast the desiccated coconut in a dry pan until it turns light brown. Whisk the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. In another bowl, whisk the egg, milk, yoghurt, melted butter and vanilla essence. Pour the wet ingredients into the dry ones and mix gently. Fold in the toasted coconut and mango. If using mango purée, reduce milk to keep the batter thick. Let the batter rest for 10 minutes. Heat a pan over medium heat, lower the heat and grease it with butter. Spoon a large scoop of batter onto the pan and cook until bubbles form on the surface and the edges begin to set. Flip and cook until golden brown. Stack the pancakes with whipped cream between the layers, then top with extra mango, walnuts, more whipped cream and a drizzle of honey.

PRIYANKA UPENDRA AND PRAVIN SINGH SISODIA ANCHOR A MOVING ALZHEIMER'S DRAMA

A SHARADHAA

SEPTEMBER 21

Director: Karen Kshiti Suvarna

Cast: Priyanka Upendra, Pravin Singh Sisodia, Amit Behl, Ajit Shidhaye, Dilip Patekar, Ricky Rudra, and Ankita Jayaram

ALZHEIMER'S is a sensitive topic to handle in film. It can't be conquered by heroism or fixed with simple medicine. It changes the pulse of a household, alters relationships, and quietly tests the patience of those who remain. September 21 explores this emotional ground not as a medical drama or sentimental tearjerker, but as a tribute to caregivers and the unnoticed work of love they do.

In this story, we meet Kamala (Priyanka Upendra), a caretaker burdened by her responsibilities. She juggles two children, an intrusive mother-in-law, and a careless husband who treats work and family as minor obligations. Her life is already stretched thin when she takes on the care of Raj (Pravin Singh Sisodia), a man navigating the confusing realm of Alzheimer's. The film opens with urgency as Raj goes missing, prompting Kamala to launch a desperate search. The anxiety sets in quickly, especially since the film is rooted in recognisable social realities. Every few seconds, someone around the globe receives an Alzheimer's diagnosis, and September 21 reminds us that statistics are realities in many homes and families.

Raj's condition is shown not just through forgetfulness but through emotional geography. He remains trapped in memories of his wife, Sudha, convinced she is still in quarantine and waits for her return. He asks Kamala to tell Sudha to sing, insists she wear a mask, and watches songs on television, believing his wife is just out of reach. The film's gentleness lies in how it honours this reality rather than trying to fix it. Pravin portrays Raj with touching innocence. He speaks of going to Mars, discusses God as if he's continuing an ongoing conversation, misplaces items, flushes things away, forgets days, and gets unsettled by noise. One of the film's sweetest moments occurs when he wants a spider's web left undisturbed.

RATING 3.5/5

For Raj, meaning still exists even when memory fades. What stands out in September 21 isn't just its subject but the perspective behind it. Director Karen Kshiti Suvarna, only 22, approaches Alzheimer's with emotional intelligence and restraint. She avoids melodrama and resists the temptation to build scenes around manipulation. Instead, she focuses on the quieter aspects of caregiving: the repetition, misunderstandings, exhaustion, and dignity found within daily tasks. The maturity lies in refraining from making a 'serious issue film' and resisting the urge to oversimplify suffering. The film's emotional conflict is embedded in caregiving itself.

Kiran (Ricky Rudra), Raj's son living abroad, grows increasingly impatient and suggests moving his father to a care center. Through video calls and instructions about food and routine, he tries to manage love from afar, but will he realise that bonding requires close care? Samuel (Amit Bhel), Raj's friend for forty years, opposes this decision, unable to accept companionship being reduced to institutional separation. Doctor Deepak (Ajit Shidhaye) serves as a kind bridge between medicine and emotion, knowing that treatment alone can't fix loneliness or grief. While Pravin fully inhabits his role, the film truly belongs to Priyanka Upendra's Kamala. She gives a performance characterised by restraint rather than display. Kamala is caring but not saintly. She feels exhaustion, occasional frustration, and a painful awareness that kindness doesn't eliminate financial struggles. When she admits to the doctor how hard caregiving is alongside her family responsibilities, the film acknowledges caregiver fatigue without judgment.

Karen Kshiti Suvarna also avoids glamourising illness. Raj's confusion can be harsh. After causing chaos, he blames Kamala. A shadow can feel threatening, a written note can raise suspicion, and care itself can become emotionally draining. Kamala's own home offers little in the way of a haven, with financial pressures and worries about her daughter's future piling up. The screenplay sometimes revisits similar emotional themes involving Sudha and Raj's confusion. Yet the sincerity remains hard to overlook.

In the end, September 21 suggests that Alzheimer's doesn't erase love; it rearranges it. Memory may shatter, names may vanish, and reality may drift away, but affection endures in gestures and devotion. Raj may forget many things, but love is not one of them. By reminding us of this, the film also gently shifts our focus to the caregivers, those who stand beside fading memories, bearing the emotional weight of loved ones slowly losing their identities, while quietly holding their lives together.

For all its thematic ambition, September 21 finds its emotional anchor in performance, with its actors lending flesh and fragility to a story about memory and loss.

Hombale Films co-founder Chaluve Gowda says Yeto Ka Naay, produced by Vijay Kiragandur, is a Marathi-Hindi bilingual shaped by story, not market calculations

HOMBALE Films, the production house behind Rajakumara, KGF, Salaar, Kantara, and the animated venture Mahavatar Narasimha, is now turning its focus to Mumbai. The banner has announced its next ambitious chapter, a bilingual hip-hop musical titled Yeto Ka Naay (YKN–Pehla Vaar). Produced by Vijay Kiragandur and directed by Sarang Sanjeev Sathaye, the film marks Hombale's formal entry into Mumbai's film space. Set against the pulse and chaos of Mumbai, Yeto Ka Naay is being made as a Marathi-Hindi bilingual and is slated for release by the end of 2026.

While the makers are tight-lipped about the plot details, Hombale appears to be exploring a different creative space with the upcoming project, which is said to be aimed at the younger, Gen Z audiences. Unlike the banner's previous high-energy action spectacles, Yeto Ka Naay takes the route of a hip-hop musical rooted in contemporary culture, signalling a fresh direction for the production house.

Speaking about the film, Hombale Films co-founder Chaluve Gowda says the project grew from story rather than commercial calculations. "At Hombale, every film begins with the story. Yeto Ka Naay is a content film that explores a fresh space and speaks to younger audiences. The intention is not to target any particular region but to create a story and musical experience that resonates with today's generation," he says. The screenplay has been jointly written by Sarang Sanjeev Sathaye, Sujay Jadhav, Srushti Tawade, and Shreyas Sagvekar. Music is composed by AV Prafullachandra, while Harshvir Oberoi handles cinematography. Shooting is currently underway across multiple locations in Mumbai.

The announcement, however, has also raised questions, with many wondering about Hombale's next move in Kannada cinema. Addressing this, Chaluve Gowda reiterates, "Kannada cinema is our foundation and will always be our priority. We are actively working on Kannada projects, and audiences can definitely expect exciting announcements in the coming months. The Kannada industry will always remain at the heart of Hombale Films, while we continue to explore unique stories from different parts of the country," he signs off.

Akshita Bopayya, Komal and Kajal Kunder

Komal mirrors real life in Tenali DA, LL.B

CE FEATURES

COMEDY star Komal Kumar is stepping into unfamiliar yet deeply personal territory with Tenali DA, LL.B. While audiences have long known him for his comic timing and entertaining screen presence, his upcoming film brings an interesting overlap between reel and real life. Komal, who studied LLB in real life, will now be seen donning the black coat on screen for the very first time.

The film's muhurat ceremony was held recently, and the first look was also revealed. What makes Tenali DA, LL.B stand apart is not merely its courtroom setting or legal drama, but the personal connection its lead actor shares with the role. For Komal, playing a lawyer is more than just another character. "Becoming a lawyer was my father's dream for me. Now, through cinema, I am finally wearing the black coat. The role is very special," Komal said during the launch event.

The emotional connection added another layer to the celebrations. Veteran actor and Komal's elder brother, Jaggesh, attended the ceremony and gave the ceremonial clap to mark the film's beginning. In a symbolic gesture, he also gifted Komal a black lawyer's coat after the muhurat, turning the moment into one of encouragement and family pride.

Jaggesh expressed confidence in the project, calling it a film backed by strong content and wishing his younger brother success.

The event also received blessings from Nirmalananda Mahaswamiji of the Adichunchanagiri Mutt.

Directed by Siddruv Siddu, Tenali DA, LL.B is set to present Komal in a refreshing avatar. The director believes the story naturally suits the actor, particularly because of his real-life legal background. "When Komal sir heard the story, he was impressed immediately. Since he has studied law in real life, it becomes an added advantage for us and gives the character more authenticity," said the filmmaker.

Joining Komal in the film is Kajal Kunder, who will be seen next in Mango Pachcha. This is her first collaboration with Komal. While keeping details about her role under wraps, the actor shared her excitement about collaborating with Komal. Akshita Bopayya also plays an important role in the film.

Backed by Santosh Mayappa, Pradeep Kumar Mahalingaiah, Renuka Prasad and the director himself, the film has music by Ritwik Muralidharan and cinematography by Uday Leela.

With Tenali DA, LL.B, Komal appears ready to move beyond familiar comic spaces and explore a character that mirrors a chapter from his own life.

Chris Hemsworth to star in Australian race film

CE FEATURES

CHRIS Hemsworth will star in and produce a feature film based on Australia's legendary Tatts Finke Desert Race. This race, one of the biggest annual sporting events in Australia's Northern Territory, is widely regarded as the country's most exciting off-road race.

According to reports, the Aussie actor's production banner, Wild State, has inked an exclusive partnership with the event's organisers to develop multiple projects around the gruelling two-day motorsport competition. The feature, which will serve as a starring vehicle for the Thor actor, is in early development with Ricky Staub and Dan Walser penning the script.

An unsettling, dark fairy tale for adults

PRASHANTH VALLAVAN

OBSESSION

Director: Curry Barker

Cast: Michael Johnston, Inde Navarrette, Cooper Tomlinson, Megan Lawless

CURRY Barker's Obsession belongs to a very specific shade of horror. It doesn't stick to your mind for giving you the scariest jump scares, goriest kills, or imaginative monster designs. More than anything, the film leaves you unsettled for long stretches; that feeling lingers even after the credits roll.

Obsession belongs to a new class of horror films that unnerves you by making ordinary people behave in a slightly off-putting yet deeply unsettling way that strikes a big dose of 'unease' into your heart. It is the same principle that turns a warm, inviting smile into a creepy gesture when it extends for just a few more seconds. This isn't new to cinema but is getting increasing (and welcome) prominence in recent horror films. Weapons (2025) is a recent example in which the simple act of children running becomes an unsettling scene because of their slightly unusual movements. Obsession finds many such moments to creep you out.

The film resorts to the mechanics of old dark fairy tales to construct a deceptively simple premise. Baron, AKA Bear, is granted one wish, and he uses it to make his long-time friend and colleague Nikki "love him more than anyone in the world." And in true fairytale fashion, his wish is granted, but to disastrous consequences. We understand what will unfold from here on out. Nikki is going to become demonically obsessed with Bear, and the excitement lies in waiting to see how far the film pushes boundaries with it. We know she is going to do strange things, like duct-taping a door to stop him from going to work. We know she is probably going to make sick acts of love, especially ones involving his dead cat's carcass. We know she is going to hurt anybody who gets close to him. We know these in the peripheries, but that does not make the film predictable. Interestingly, whenever we approach one of these predictable elements, the tension heightens, much like a car crash video that raises our pulse. There is something terrifying about the last few seconds right before a strange and chaotic thing is about to happen. Curry Barker has mastered the art of presenting such moments. Filmmakers typically use music or flashy edits to ramp up to such moments, but Barker employs silence and shadows. Some of the most terrifying moments arrive when Nikki is shrouded in darkness, her voice alone leaping out.

RATING 3.5/5

Obsession uses sadistic violence in tandem with irony to flesh out comedic moments. They say comedy and tragedy are both different sides of the same coin, but Obsession pushes the boundaries of how far this statement could be true. Some of the most obvious themes explored by the film are 'careful what you wish for', 'Are we looking for love or unbridled devotion?', and 'the profound evil of greed'. But the brilliance of Obsession lies in those moments when it explores the character's inner world through the sudden, shocking choices they make.

One chilling moment that demonstrates this is when the real Nikki, trapped inside the obsessive persona, pleads with Baron to kill her. While we have seen Bear being clearly terrified and repulsed by the obsessed Nikki until then, suddenly perks up to ask, "Why? What's so wrong with being with me?" Bear is not characterised as inherently evil; he is not willfully trying to take advantage of her obsessive persona, nor is he possessed by an evil entity. And yet, even after witnessing terrifyingly demonic things, Baron is still shockingly self-centred. The choices made by the non-possessed Baron shock us as much as the possessed Nikki does. Historically, fairy tales in their original form were said to be dark and violent and were written as cautionary tales for children. Obsession feels like a modern, dark fairy tale for adults, especially for an age where human relationships have started mirroring our dopamine-addicted relationship with social media, where attention and constant validation seem to have replaced love and genuine connection.
